Water Crisis Group Due In Northeast

Will Begin Laying Out Plan To Solve Acute Shortages

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal water crisis team heads into the drought-stricken Northeast today to begin laying out a systematic program for solving an acute water shortage.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall and Lt. Gen. W. F. Cassidy, chief of the Army Enginers, head the team which has meetings scheduled at Philadelphia (1:30 p.m. EDT) and Camden, N.J., (4 p.m.) today and at Newark, N.J., (9 a.m.) and New York City (2 p.m.) Friday.

Follow-up teams of about a half dozen men each will be set up in each city to continue working with state and local officials on drought problems.

This was the machinery ordered Wednesday by President Johnson during a White House conference of governors, mayors, members of Congress and other officials from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware called to discuss the four years of drought.

"This is a time for action — federal, state and local, public and private," Johnson said.

He announced measures to mobilize federal aid for longer range projects including a $4-million water resources planning survey for the entire Northeast from Maine to Virginia and speedups in reservoir projects in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Johnson also signed a bill authorizing a $185-million speedup in the program to convert salt and brackish water to fresh water.

Udall and Cassidy met for more than an hour following the White House meeting with dozens of state and local officials from the drought area to set up the machinery for implementing the President's plan.

"We want to lay out a systematic program," Udall said. "We presumably will come up with some hard decisions."

The first step for the task force, Udall said, will be to gather all the information possible on the water shortage, what's being done about it and the supplies which are available through next March 15 when the spring runoff normally begins.

Although more federal money probably will be needed, Udall said the cities and states also will play an expanded role in the solutions to the problem to be recommended to the President.

Johnson asked his Water Resources Council which Udall heads to keep in daily touch with officials of the four states represented at the White House conference. He said he is prepared to take whatever additional steps the council deems necessary.

State Meeting Sought

Association Sees Downgrading Of Lake-River Road

Directors of the Lake Erie-Ohio River Highway Association have instructed President Harold J. Mills of Warren to appoint a committee to confer with state highway officials in an effort to stop what they consider a move to "downgrade" construction of the thoroughfare designated as Route 11.

The action took place Wednesday night during a meeting at the Trumbull Country Club in Warren.

The directors expressed general displeasure over an announcement by the state that constructed as "separations" in Trumbull and Mahoning counties and over the fact that they understand bituminous material will be used for paving a 15-mile stretch of highway in Columbiana County.

The 15-mile section would extend from the end of the present construction phase at Apples Corners to a point near the Mahoning County line, the directors said.

Mills said he will attempt to arrange a meeting with highway department officials within the next week or 10 days.

The directors declared they feel that the state is not carrying out promises made at the time the $500-million bond issue was submitted to the voters last year.

It was pointed out that the elimination of grade separations would result in making the highway less safe for traffic in direct contrast to the state's efforts on behalf of highway safety.

In objecting to the use of asphalt, reference was made to a recent Associated Press story relative to the highway program in Ohio.

The story, by John F. Wheeler of the AP Columbus bureau, pointed out "the state builds two kinds of highways, concrete and asphalt."

It continued: "Concrete is usually nine inches thick on a six-inch selected sub-base such as crushed rock. Most of the state's asphalt highways are two lanes. Asphalt is used because it is cheaper when it is considered adequate for the American Military Spokesman Says 3 Others Back Safely

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. and Vietnamese troops lifted the 70-day-old siege of Duc Co today.

Powerful units launched operations to wipe Viet Cong from the jungles flanking 40 miles of highway on which that Special Forces camp is situated near the Cambodian frontier.

In the air war, a U.S. Navy A4 Skyhawk was reported shot down by a surface-to-air missile about 50 miles south-southwest of Hanoi. A military spokesman said the downed craft was one in a formation of four of the single-seat lighweight jet bombers. The pilot was presumed killed.

The spokesman said the area was outside the range of known antiaircraft missile sites in North Viet Nam. He would not elaborate, but it was believed this indicated the missile was fired from a mobile unit.

U.S. troops of the 173rd Airborne Brigade and the 2nd Brigade of the 1st Infantry Division backed up government battalions of a relief column that reached Duc Co Wednesday night.

The Americans had flown Tuesday and Wednesday to Pleiku, 2nd Corps area headquarters in the central highlands, as the relief column neared its goal, 30 miles southwest of Pleiku.

A patrol of U.S. paratroopers made a brief contact with guerrillas today at the village of Plei Ya Ho. Shots were exchanged, but when the paratroopers

Space First In Gemini 5 Flight

U.S. Astronauts Will Try Rendezvous With Satellite

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Most of the excitement and suspense of next week's Gemini 5 flight may be packed into the first six hours when Air Force Lt. Col L. Gordon Cooper Jr., and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr., will attempt the world's first space rendezvous with a satellite they call the "Little Rascal."

In disclosing details of the flight plan today, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the rendezvous maneuver would be conducted from the second to the fifth orbits. It will be a rehearsal for the Gemini 6 flight scheduled in October, during which Navy Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra Jr., and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford are to try to link up their spacecraft with another satellite.

The space agency said the flight was scheduled to start Thursday at 9 a.m. (EST) from Cape Kennedy, with a Titan 2 rocket serving as the booster. Gemini 5 is to settle initially into an orbit ranging from 100 to 219 miles high — 43 miles higher than any U.S. astronaut has flown, but short of the Soviet record of 307 miles.

The flight is to last 191 hours 53 minutes, just seven minutes shy of eight days and will end with a landing in the western Atlantic, about 500 miles southwest of Bermuda. Cooper and Conrad are to circle the globe 121 times.

The time would break the world record of 4 days 23 hours 6 minutes, held by Soviet cosmonaut Valery Bykovsky. The U.S. record, set in June by Air Force Lt. Cols. James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, is just one minute short of four days.

Cooper, who made a 34-hour flight in the Mercury program and who seeks to be the first man to orbit twice, and Conrad will carry their rendezvous satellite with them, packing it in an equipment section at the base of the spacecraft. The satellite is called REP (all caps) for Radar Evaluation Pod.

During orbit No. 2, 2 hours and 7 minutes after launching, Cooper will press a switch and explosive devices will kick the 76-pound REP into a separate orbit alongside Gemini 5.

Then command pilot Cooper will switch the Gemini 5 orbit so the craft gradually falls behind the satellite to a distance of about 52 miles. Then, using a radar system, an on-board computer and jet thrusters, Cooper will begin chasing the REP across the skies. If there are no hitches, he should catch it during orbit No. 4 moving to within 20 feet of it.

Gemini 5 will circle the REP for nearly an hour so that Conrad can photograph it from various angles.

The radar system, elements of which are in both the spacecraft and the REP, is identical to that which Schirra and Stafford will use for the Gemini 6 docking maneuver.

After completing the rendezvous, Cooper and Conrad will settle down to the long haul in space — on a flight which equals the roundtrip time planned for the first team of moon-bound United States astronauts.

Differences On Urban Bill To Be Settled

Senate Votes 57-33 To Create Cabinet Unit To Aid Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sponsors of the bill creating a Cabinet Department of Housing and Urban Development predicted today the differences between the House and Senate versions will be settled quickly.

The Senate passed the high-priority administration measure Wednesday 57 to 33 and sent it back to the House which had cleared it 217 to 184 June 16.

Voting for it were 47 Democratic and 10 Republican senators. Opposed were 14 Democrats, including 12 Southerners, and 19 Republicans.

Hailing the Senate action, President Johnson said in a statement, "We will make sure that every family in America has access to a home of dignity and a neighborhood of pride." He said he was delighted with what he called the strong bipartisan support in the Senate for the new department.

Two days of low-key Senate debate on the bill came as an anticlimax after 10 years of congressional dispute over establishing a Cabinet department to deal with problems of cities.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen enlivened the debate at the end, however, with a speech explaining he was voting no in the hope of slowing "the growth of gargantuan government."

Getting Tough To Meet Draft Calls

Some Boards To Tighten Rules Deferring Students

NEW YORK (AP) — Some Selective Service boards say they will tighten rules deferring college students from the draft in the Viet Nam crisis.

Draft boards that have been liberal in giving students deferments in the past say they are going to get tough to meet heavy draft calls beginning next month.

A sampling by The Associated Press of 20 states showed 13 planning to review the status of deferred students. At least two others in the survey are considering such action.

"If we need men to draft, one place we'll look is the college classroom," said Lt. Col. Wayne Rhodes, deputy state director of the Indiana Selective Service System.

The look to the campus came after President Johnson ordered the monthly draft jumped from 17,000 to 35,000 men by November.

The Pentagon said the September draft will be 27,400 and the October draft call will be 33,600. The Navy will get 4,600 of the October draftees — the first time in nine years enlistments have failed to produce enough new men.

The quotas are the highest since the Korean War, when 80,000 men were called some months.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of the Selective Service System, said there are between 1.2 million and 1.3 million college students with draft deferments.

Some state boards are going to require that students submit transcripts to show that they are not only carrying full loads, but are making good grades as well.

"We are going to look (at the status of the students) fairly closely and if a boy has just been playing along in school and making poor grades there's a chance his local board might call him up," said Col. Harry O. Smith, Selective Service director for Georgia.

Not all states plan to look at student deferments. One such state is Virginia, where a

Plans Pushed For New U.S. Party Group

A move to form a national Democratic county chairmen's organization, to provide a coordinated grass-roots campaign program, was launched in Columbiana County Wednesday night.

Twelve of the 15 party chairmen in Northeastern Ohio attended a dinner meeting at Timberlane's Restaurant in Salem at which a resolution was drafted for presentation to the National Democratic Committee, urging creation of the county chairmen group.

Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, county Democratic chairman, was named temporary chairman of the steering group and Joseph Sarosy of Painesville, Lake County chairman, was appointed secretary.

Plans were made for a meeting Sept. 8 at Akron to which all Ohio county chairman will be invited to consider formation of an Ohio Democratic County Chairmen's Association.

Atty. Hugo Alexander of Steubenville, Jefferson County chairman, was named to head the committee in charge of the state meeting.

Gosney, commenting upon the proposed national organization, said it would pay membership dues so as to be self - sustaining.

"We have the feeling it would be one of the greatest organizations to set up grass - roots support for any congressional or presidential election," he said.

Johnson Eyes Big Speaking Tour In Fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson plans no foreign travel this year but hopes to schedule speaking tours to widely separated parts of the nation in the fall as part of a "report to the people" program.

Johnson's travel plans became the subject of renewed interest after the President confided Wednesday to a visiting delegation of travel industry executives that: "I hope before the year is out — when Congress gets out of here — I can do some traveling too."

White House officials, asked to elaborate on Johnson's plans, emphasized first that no trips to foreign countries were contemplated.

Bill D. Moyers, press secretary, was asked about Johnson's off-the-cuff remark about travel hopes. He said the President wanted to "get out and see parts of the country and see people." He said that this hope has not reached the formal planning stage nor have any invitations been accepted.

Police Hunt For Juvenile Turns Up Army Deserter

An 18-year-old Cleveland youth who apparently deserted from the Army while stationed in Germany over a month ago was being held today by Wellsville police.

Identified as Claude Barbiaux, his arrest came during a routine pickup of a juvenile wanted by Cleveland police.

Wellsville police received a call from Cleveland authorities Wednesday evening requesting the juvenile be picked up. Cleveland police said the youth apparently was working at the carnival which is playing for the St. Rocco Festival at Central Park.

After the juvenile was taken nto custody, Capt. Pete Trainer made a check of the room in which he was boarding. While there, the captain spotted an Army duffle bag with the name Claude Barbiaux stenciled on it.

Trainer, thinking perhaps the juvenile had stolen the duffle bag, checked with the carnival owner to determine if such a person was working there. The owner pointed Barbiaux out to police and when he was asked for identification he produced a driver's license bearing the name of "Robert Mayer" of Cleveland.

Upon further questioning, Barbiaux, who is a native of France, admitted he was AWOL from the Army.

He said he had deserted at Bamberg, Germany, July 11 of

Plans Pushed For New U.S. Party Group

A move to form a national Democratic county chairmen's organization, to provide a coordinated grass-roots campaign program, was launched in Columbiana County Wednesday night.

Twelve of the 15 party chairmen in Northeastern Ohio attended a dinner meeting at Timberlane's Restaurant in Salem at which a resolution was drafted for presentation to the National Democratic Committee, urging creation of the county chairmen group.

Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, county Democratic chairman, was named temporary chairman of the steering group and Joseph Sarosy of Painesville, Lake County chairman, was appointed secretary.

Plans were made for a meeting Sept. 8 at Akron to which all Ohio county chairman will be invited to consider formation of an Ohio Democratic County Chairmen's Association.

Atty. Hugo Alexander of Steubenville, Jefferson County chairman, was named to head the committee in charge of the state meeting.

Gosney, commenting upon the proposed national organization, said it would pay membership dues so as to be self - sustaining.

"We have the feeling it would be one of the greatest organizations to set up grass - roots support for any congressional or presidential election," he said.

Johnson Eyes Big Speaking Tour In Fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson plans no foreign travel this year but hopes to schedule speaking tours to widely separated parts of the nation in the fall as part of a "report to the people" program.

Johnson's travel plans became the subject of renewed interest after the President confided Wednesday to a visiting delegation of travel industry executives that: "I hope before the year is out — when Congress gets out of here — I can do some traveling too."

White House officials, asked to elaborate on Johnson's plans, emphasized first that no trips to foreign countries were contemplated.

Bill D. Moyers, press secretary, was asked about Johnson's off-the-cuff remark about travel hopes. He said the President wanted to "get out and see parts of the country and see people." He said that this hope has not reached the formal planning stage nor have any invitations been accepted.

In Case At Wellsville

Police Hunt For Juvenile Turns Up Army Deserter

An 18-year-old Cleveland youth who apparently deserted from the Army while stationed in Germany over a month ago was being held today by Wellsville police.

Identified as Claude Barbiaux, his arrest came during a routine pickup of a juvenile wanted by Cleveland police.

Wellsville police received a call from Cleveland authorities Wednesday evening requesting the juvenile be picked up. Cleveland police said the youth apparently was working at the carnival which is playing for the St. Rocco Festival at Central Park.

After the juvenile was taken nto custody, Capt. Pete Trainer made a check of the room in which he was boarding. While there, the captain spotted an Army duffle bag with the name Claude Barbiaux stenciled on it.

Trainer, thinking perhaps the juvenile had stolen the duffle bag, checked with the carnival owner to determine if such a person was working there. The owner pointed Barbiaux out to police and when he was asked for identification he produced a driver's license bearing the name of "Robert Mayer" of Cleveland.

Upon further questioning, Barbiaux, who is a native of France, admitted he was AWOL from the Army.

He said he had deserted at Bamberg, Germany, July 11 of Superstitious? Then be on guard. Tomorrow marks the time of opportunity for ill fortune against those who favor rabbit feet or hang horseshoes — Friday, the Thirteenth.

Medicare And Social Security

How Much Do You Get-And How?

By JOHN TROAN
NEA Special Writer

"How much will I get when I retire?"

That's the question uppermost in the minds of millions of Americans who are working their way toward a Social Security pension.

10th In A Series

The answer depends on your "average earnings" — how much you make on jobs covered by Social Security, averaged over a certain number of years.

YOU MAY average out your earnings from 1937 on (that's when the Social Security law took effect) or from 1951 on.

When you apply for your retirement benefit, the Social Security office helps determine which method gives you the better break. In most cases, averaging earnings from 1951 on results in higher benefits — because pay levels in recent years have been higher.

In figuring your average, you may count only up to:

$3,000 a year earned from 1937 through 1950.

$3,600 a year from 1951 through 1954.

$4,200 a year from 1955 through 1958.

$4,800 a year from 1959 through 1965.

Because that's all that has been taxed for Social Security purposes.

Starting with 1966, you may count the first $6,600 you earn each year.

You must count a certain number of years to figure your "average earnings." The number depends on when you were born, and whether you are a man or woman. The minimum is five years; the maximum, 38. (The accompanying table shows exactly how many you must count.)

Your retirement benefit is based on your highest earning years. But if you haven't worked the number required for this purpose, some "zero earning" years must be included in calculating your average earnings.

FOR EXAMPLE, take a man born in 1906. As explained in a previous article, he needs 20 "quarters of coverage" to qualify for some retirement benefit. That's five years. But in figuring how much he is to get, he must average out his earnings over 15 years.

Thus if he works only five years under Social Security, he must include 10 years of "zero earnings" to calculate his average. This pushes the average earnings down — and reduces his monthly benefit.

Social Security headquarters in Baltimore keeps a lifetime record of your earnings. You can find out how much is credited to your Social Security account and how many "quarters of coverage" you have earned, by filling out a postcard form available at any Social Security office.

The smallest retirement benefit a worker may draw at age 65 is now $44 a month. This is if yearly earnings under Social Security average $804 or less.

The maximum monthly benefit at age 65 is $135.90 — for a worker with average yearly earnings of $4,800. This will climb steadily until the year 2000 at which time some workers will qualify for the top retirement benefit of $168.

You may claim your retirement benefit at age 62. But in that case you get only 80 per cent of what you'd draw at age 65. If you wait until you're 63, you get 86 2-3 per cent. If you start collecting at age 64, you get 93 1-3 per cent.

In short, the sooner you begin drawing your benefit the less you get per month. That's because you'll be getting it for a longer time.

When you draw a retirement benefit, your wife and children also may qualify.

The wife must be at least 62. Or she must be caring for an unmarried child under 18 or a child incapable of self - support due to a disability incurred before age 18.

Such children also are eligible for monthly checks — plus any child under 22 who is still in school. Coverage for such students is retroactive to Jan. 1, 1965.

The wife gets one - half of the husband's "primary insurance benefit" — what he'd be entitled to at age 65. (But her payment is reduced, up to 25 per cent, if she claims her benefit before reaching 65 herself.) Each child also is entitled to one - half of the worker's basic benefit.

There is a ceiling, however, on what one family can draw. This now ranges from $66 to $309.20 a month, depending on the worker's average yearly earnings. The family maximum will rise in some cases to $368 in 1967.

A special provision, effective Sept. 1, 1965, pertains to retired workers reaching 72 before 1969. Regardless of average earnings, such a person may draw a flat $35 monthly benefit if he worked a specified number of months — in some cases, as few as nine — under Social Security at any time since Jan. 1, 1937. And his wife may collect an extra $17.50 a month if she reaches 72 before 1969.

Next: You don't have to quit working to draw retirement benefits.)

MONTHLY RETIREMENT BENEFITS

Here are examples showing about how much you'll draw in monthly retirement benefits at age 65, based on your average yearly earnings under Social Security:

AVERAGE YEARLY EARNINGS	RETIRED WORKER	RETIRED COUPLE
$804 or less	$ 44.00	$ 66.00
$1,200	63.20	94.80
$1,800	78.20	117.30
$2,080 (x)	83.50	125.30
$2,400	89.90	134.90
$3,000	101.70	152.60
$3,600	112.40	168.60
$4,200	124.20	186.30
$4,800	135.90	203.90
$6,600 (y)	168.00	252.00

(x)—Current average of all retired workers receiving benefits.

(y)—Generally, this won't become possible until the year 2000 for retired women workers and 2003 for retired men.

YEARS TO COUNT

Here is a table listing the number of years that must be counted in figuring a worker's average earnings—on which all Social Security cash benefits are based.

Year Worker Was Born	Years Counted Man	Woman	Year Worker Was Born	Years Counted Man	Woman
1896 or earlier	5	5	1913	22	19
1897	6	5	1914	23	20
1898	7	5	1915	24	21
1899	8	5	1916	25	22
1900	9	6	1917	26	23
1901	10	7	1918	27	24
1902	11	8	1919	28	25
1903	12	9	1920	29	26
1904	13	10	1921	30	27
1905	14	11	1922	31	28
1906	15	12	1923	32	29
1907	16	13	1924	33	30
1908	17	14	1925	34	31
1909	18	15	1926	35	32
1910	19	16	1927	36	33
1911	20	17	1928	37	34
1912	21	18	1929 or later	38	35

Effective Sept. 1, 1965, this table need not apply to a retired worker reaching 72 before 1969. Such a person may draw a flat $35-a-month retirement benefit simply if he has three to five "quarters of coverage" —ninc to 15 months of work—credited to his Social Security account.

How Much Do You Get-And How?

By JOHN TROAN
NEA Special Writer

"How much will I get when I retire?"

That's the question uppermost in the minds of millions of Americans who are working their way toward a Social Security pension.

10th In A Series

The answer depends on your "average earnings" — how much you make on jobs covered by Social Security, averaged over a certain number of years.

YOU MAY average out your earnings from 1937 on (that's when the Social Security law took effect) or from 1951 on.

When you apply for your retirement benefit, the Social Security office helps determine which method gives you the better break. In most cases, averaging earnings from 1951 on results in higher benefits — because pay levels in recent years have been higher.

In figuring your average, you may count only up to:

$3,000 a year earned from 1937 through 1950.

$3,600 a year from 1951 through 1954.

$4,200 a year from 1955 through 1958.

$4,800 a year from 1959 through 1965.

Because that's all that has been taxed for Social Security purposes.

Starting with 1966, you may count the first $6,600 you earn each year.

You must count a certain number of years to figure your "average earnings." The number depends on when you were born, and whether you are a man or woman. The minimum is five years; the maximum, 38. (The accompanying table shows exactly how many you must count.)

Your retirement benefit is based on your highest earning years. But if you haven't worked the number required for this purpose, some "zero earning" years must be included in calculating your average earnings.

FOR EXAMPLE, take a man born in 1906. As explained in a previous article, he needs 20 "quarters of coverage" to qualify for some retirement benefit. That's five years. But in figuring how much he is to get, he must average out his earnings over 15 years.

Thus if he works only five years under Social Security, he must include 10 years of "zero earnings" to calculate his average. This pushes the average earnings down — and reduces his monthly benefit.

Social Security headquarters in Baltimore keeps a lifetime record of your earnings. You can find out how much is credited to your Social Security account and how many "quarters of coverage" you have earned, by filling out a postcard form available at any Social Security office.

The smallest retirement benefit a worker may draw at age 65 is now $44 a month. This is if yearly earnings under Social Security average $804 or less.

The maximum monthly benefit at age 65 is $135.90 — for a worker with average yearly earnings of $4,800. This will climb steadily until the year 2000 at which time some workers will qualify for the top retirement benefit of $168.

You may claim your retirement benefit at age 62. But in that case you get only 80 per cent of what you'd draw at age 65. If you wait until you're 63, you get 86 2-3 per cent. If you start collecting at age 64, you get 93 1-3 per cent.

In short, the sooner you begin drawing your benefit the less you get per month. That's because you'll be getting it for a longer time.

When you draw a retirement benefit, your wife and children also may qualify.

The wife must be at least 62. Or she must be caring for an unmarried child under 18 or a child incapable of self - support due to a disability incurred before age 18.

Such children also are eligible for monthly checks — plus any child under 22 who is still in school. Coverage for such students is retroactive to Jan. 1, 1965.

The wife gets one - half of the husband's "primary insurance benefit" — what he'd be entitled to at age 65. (But her payment is reduced, up to 25 per cent, if she claims her benefit before reaching 65 herself.) Each child also is entitled to one - half of the worker's basic benefit.

There is a ceiling, however, on what one family can draw. This now ranges from $66 to $309.20 a month, depending on the worker's average yearly earnings. The family maximum will rise in some cases to $368 in 1967.

A special provision, effective Sept. 1, 1965, pertains to retired workers reaching 72 before 1969. Regardless of average earnings, such a person may draw a flat $35 monthly benefit if he worked a specified number of months — in some cases, as few as nine — under Social Security at any time since Jan. 1, 1937. And his wife may collect an extra $17.50 a month if she reaches 72 before 1969.

Next: You don't have to quit working to draw retirement benefits.)

MONTHLY RETIREMENT BENEFITS

Here are examples showing about how much you'll draw in monthly retirement benefits at age 65, based on your average yearly earnings under Social Security:

AVERAGE YEARLY EARNINGS	RETIRED WORKER	RETIRED COUPLE
$804 or less	$ 44.00	$ 66.00
$1,200	63.20	94.80
$1,800	78.20	117.30
$2,080 (x)	83.50	125.30
$2,400	89.90	134.90
$3,000	101.70	152.60
$3,600	112.40	168.60
$4,200	124.20	186.30
$4,800	135.90	203.90
$6,600 (y)	168.00	252.00

(x)—Current average of all retired workers receiving benefits.

(y)—Generally, this won't become possible until the year 2000 for retired women workers and 2003 for retired men.

YEARS TO COUNT

Here is a table listing the number of years that must be counted in figuring a worker's average earnings—on which all Social Security cash benefits are based.

Year Worker Was Born	Years Counted Man	Years Counted Woman	Year Worker Was Born	Years Counted Man	Years Counted Woman
1896 or earlier	5	5	1913	22	19
1897	6	5	1914	23	20
1898	7	5	1915	24	21
1899	8	5	1916	25	22
1900	9	6	1917	26	23
1901	10	7	1918	27	24
1902	11	8	1919	28	25
1903	12	9	1920	29	26
1904	13	10	1921	30	27
1905	14	11	1922	31	28
1906	15	12	1923	32	29
1907	16	13	1924	33	30
1908	17	14	1925	34	31
1909	18	15	1926	35	32
1910	19	16	1927	36	33
1911	20	17	1928	37	34
1912	21	18	1929 or later	38	35

Effective Sept. 1, 1965, this table need not apply to a retired worker reaching 72 before 1969. Such a person may draw a flat $35-a-month retirement benefit simply if he has three to five "quarters of coverage"—nine to 15 months of work—credited to his Social Security account.

Minority Calls The Shots

When the Ohio General Assembly convened last January, everyone was haunted by the potential standoff created by an election which put 16 Republicans and 16 Democrats head to head in the Senate.

As it turned out, they worried with good cause.

The lack of a clear majority was a threat during the entire session but only during the last few days did it operate to tie the entire legislature into knots.

BECAUSE OF IT, the Assembly was unable to resolve the important capital improvements bill which appropriates funds from the $290 million bond issue approved by Ohioans last May.

The stubbornness of one Republican—Sen. Ross Pepple of Lima—and the solidarity of the 16 Democrats has thrown up an insurmountable barrier to House members who have insisted their version of the bill is the only one which represents what the people voted for.

This is the issue which the legislature must resolve when it returns Aug. 31 for what hopefully will be the last gasp of its prolonged death throes.

Stubborn as he has been about his amendments to the bill, Pepple could have gotten nowhere without the iron-clad backing of the Democrats who take their orders without question from one man—Democratic Leader Frank King of Toledo, whose job as AFL-CIO president has given him new authority.

Until King gives the signal, the capital improvements bill will remain stymied unless the House knuckles under and agrees to Pepple's fund-juggling amendments or unless Pepple himself backs off.

IF PEPPLE and the "King's men" prevail over the objections of most House members and all 15 of Pepple's GOP colleagues in the Senate, it will mean 17 individuals have dictated the terms to an entire legislature.

This is what the lack of a political majority can mean—legislation affecting all of Ohio but representing the whims of only a small minority in the General Assembly.

Over The Top?

Another phase of the Patterson Field Improvement Fund campaign will begin in September when the committee in charge sponsors a carnival.

Much has been accomplished already in the $50,000 program. But much remains to be done—and it takes money.

New bleachers — already erected, new lights, resodding of the field, a new press-box and work on the concrete stands are included in the work.

A better Patterson Field will be the result.

With football just around the corner, what better time to contribute to a deserving fund and put the campaign over the top!

Eight Million Autos A Year?

When the auto industry closes out the last of the 1965 models this month, it will close its books on its most successful year in history—a combined industry output of about 8.85 million cars, far exceeding the record 7.89 million cars built during the 1964 model year.

Two of the automakers already have finished production of their 1965 models. Chrysler Corp's. production rose 16 per cent from its previous record to 1.44 million cars. American Motors, however, fell 1 per cent from last year to 391,366 cars this year, a decline, attributed by company officials to the company's lingering identification with the out-of-favor compact auto.

General Motors, the leader of the industry, will have built about 4.56 million 1965 model cars when it closes out its last numbers in about two weeks. GM topped 1964 by 7 per cent. Ford's output of 2.46 million cars will top its 1964 record by 19 per cent.

As the industry turns to the production of 1966 models, analysts along Wall Street, and others, are skeptical about the industry's chances of setting another record. They believe that if the economy should stall, even temporarily this winter, autos will suffer.

Industry officials are optimistic however and believe that the cut in auto excise taxes will leave sufficient steam in consumer demand to hold sales at 1965 levels. They also believe that they can count on selling around 8 million cars a year from now on, counting on the 6 million cars that are scrapped annually plus 2 million new buyers coming into the market as the population expands.

It is doubtful though that Detroit can turn in a 1966 model year that will top 1965 by much.

Dropouts That Hurt

We parents have been so engrossed with the national student dropout problem that we have completely overlooked another major school problem the high dropout rate among teachers.

According to Robert N. Bush of Stanford University, more than half the new teachers who receive their certificates each June will not be teaching two years later. He further adds that about the same number teaching in their first year do not intend to be teaching five years later.

Perhaps it's a case where example is stronger than precept.

Nothing To Celebrate

Indonesia will mark its 20th anniversary of independence from Dutch rule Tuesday with little to celebrate other than the political advantage it may have gained from the splintering of Singapore from the Malaysia Federation.

With Sukarno showing a more pronounced swing to the left and with the island republic gripped by economic hardship, one can only wonder how long it may be before independence is exchanged for Communist control.

ECONOMICALLY, the 100 million or so Indonesians never have had it worse.

Despite the fact that the country is one of the world's richest in natural resources, a cruel food deficit continues to grip the archipelago.

Sukarno's eight-year development plan, launched in 1961, is a dismal failure because of mismanagement and corruption in high government circles.

The government, meanwhile, continues to spend millions in economic aid — mostly from Red China — for weapons.

Sukarno can shoulder most of the blame for Indonesia's plight.

His stiff anti - Western attitude has plunged U.S. - Indonesian relations to new depths. American aid, formerly worth $100 million a year, has been shut off and diplomatic relations have been crippled.

It has become evident that the mercurial Sukarno is motivated as much by a need to distract attention from Indonesia's internal turmoil as by his craving to build a Pacific island empire.

AFTER SWALLOWING up West New Guinea in 1962 — with American help — Sukarno began his confrontation with the newly independent Malaysia which he has vowed to crush.

His willingness to cast his lot with Red China on the assumption that twin pillars of power can dominate all Southeast Asia has put economically crippled Indonesia in line for easy plucking by the Communists.

In almost every way, Indonesia's observance of its 1945 declaration of independence from the Dutch is a grim reminder of just how close this strategic island republic is to becoming an appendage of the Communist world.

Johnson On Spot

By James Marlow

President Johnson is on the spot.

By Monday he must find a solution that will keep Republican critics quiet, save face for the United States, and get the United States, Russia and the United Nations off the hook.

This is the hook: The Soviet Union, France, Belgium, South Africa, Yemen and eight Communist countries owe $108 million to the United Nations as their share of the cost of keeping the peace in the Middle East and the Congo.

Russia's share is $62.2 million. Russia refuses to pay, arguing that the way the U.N. decision to send peace-keeping forces into the Middle East and the Congo was made illegal. France takes a similar position.

But the United States has been making Russia its main target and insisted the Soviets must pay up or lose their vote in the U.N. General Asembly.

If that happened, and Russia and her satellites quit the world organization, only a shell would be left. This argument for months has made a mess of the United Nations. The United States has been softening its stand.

An American backdown, particularly at this time when the United States doesn't want Russia to get involved in the Vietnamese war, seems certain. Johnson's problem is how to do it gracefully.

Some Republicans in Congress began to attack the Johnson administration for what they called backdown. Yet, in this case someone has to yield or the United Nations may go up in smoke.

This is why it seems inevitable Johnson by Monday will have to work out some formula with which Russia can agree but still do it adroitly enough to keep critics off his neck and save some face for the United States.

The 33-nation U.N. committee considering the dues problem meets Monday.

There Must Be A Better Way

Red Efforts In Brazil Detailed

By Victor Riesel

RIO DE JANEIRO

Up in New York City not too many years ago a Soviet courier met a powerful underworld thug (now dead) in a West 46th St. restaurant and offered him $1 million to permit the American Communists to operate politically in that strategic harbor.

Victor Riesel

That was a penny - pinching deal compared with the pacts made here, before the military revolution, between the Brazilian Communists and the regime so much adored by leftists across the world. A political partnership was developed permitting the Communist party to control virtually all of labor in this country, while the men in power piled up fortunes literally worth billions of dollars.

Records here reveal that the ousted leftist ex-president Joao Goulart had amassed in his name and that of his family and business associates more than 1.75 million acres of valuable land.

THOUGH GOVERNING allegedly in the name of the proletariat, this man, head of the Brazilian Labor party, had become the world's largest landowner.

His fazendas (haciendas) and other real estate were widely scattered in this huge land which is half a continent in size. So he used air force plans to link them. The federal aircraft also were used to transport managerial staffs, agricultural machinery, building material and even cattle.

He and his brother - in - law, Leonel Brizola, head of the "wild men" power bloc in the Labor party, also took care of their friends and Communist political allies. Their cronies, too, picked up fazendas and thus were eligible for special subsidies, much of which was intended for sugar workers's wages.

Again, records show that a considerable share of these large sums went into foreign banks and even the purchase of private airplanes.

Buddies and Communists and their relatives were put on government payrolls by the tens of thousands. They rarely showed up for work.

WHEN THE REFORM administration of President Gen. Castello Branco, leader of the anti - Communist revolution, ordered all federal employes to report to work, thousands of them did not even know the addresses of bureaus from which they had been drawing their pay. And some of them had several such jobs.

When President Branco insisted his orders be obeyed, there were mob scenes in many government agencies. "Employes" jammed the government offices — standing around the big rooms because there were hardly enough desks and chairs for all on the payroll.

The Communists in turn, got their biggest chunk of government pie from the federal corporation known as Petrobras—the state-owned oil business.

They had virtual control of the company. They got thousands of their party people on its payroll. They used its funds to finance their activities. They commandeered trucks to carry party activists to big Communist demonstrations.

ALL THESE instances could be multiplied tenfold. But why did the multi-millionaire Goulart make a pact with the Marxists? Simple. Goulart and his inner group, failing to read history, thought they could use the Communist apparatus to keep the government in power.

Only part of the military stood in their way. So Goulart and his clique attempted to subvert their own government in the hope that a peoples' rebellion led by Communists would crush the democratic military force—and thus make it possible for Goulart to rule as absolute dictator.

The macabre history of the final months of Goulart's regime were outlined for me by the suave and cultured Brazilian foreign minister, Vasco Leitao da Cunha, in his old, tradition-laden office.

He described Brizola's organization of guerrilla cadres called "Groups of 11." Mr. da Cunha, the Dean Rusk of Brazil, a taut, eloquent chap, described revolutionary pamphlets put out by the Goulart ministry of education which urged the peasants to rebel.

HE DISCLOSED that Communists had seeped into the navy and were showing enlisted men a Soviet film depicting a naval revolt. At the end of the movie a voice dubbed in said to the Brazilian sailors: Now you know what to do.

Then Brizola and others would get on three radio networks to exhort the people to revolt. One network belonged to the unions, another to the ministry of education and the third to Brizola himself.

To prevent chaos and seizure of Brazil by the Communists, who had by March 1964 come under Peking influence, the military drove out Goulart and the militant Marxists went underground — for the moment.

Yet there are those who believe that the ousted leftist government was moving towards the redemption of the common man, simply because it sloganeered as a progressive movement.

Were it not for the democratic military force, this half continent would today be the southern end of the Peking-Havana Axis.

Instant Legislation

By David Lawrence

Few Congressmen Read Full Voting Rights Law

Plenty of publicity was given in the press and over radio and television to the signing of the new voting-rights bill by President Johnson but it may come as a surprise to most people to discover that, of the 402 members of the House of Representatives who voted on the measure, very few had enough time to study thoroughly the text of the bill on which they were voting.

David Lawrence

How can democracy work effectively if members of the national legislature do not read the bills on which they have a duty to vote? The voting-rights bill was approved by a recorded vote of 328 yeas and 74 nays of the conference report of more than 8 000 words, containing the text of the bill — some sections of which had been rewritten, revised or changed — could hardly have been examined intensively or read thoroughly by many members of the House of Representatives between the time copies reached them and the hour for voting.

The Senate - House Conference Committee, which had studied the different versions of the House and Senate bills, agreed upon its report on Thursday afternoon, July 29. Except, however, for some rephrasing of hitherto disputed points, the agreement was not then even in written form. Staff people of the Senate and House worked on the report over the weekend.

ON MONDAY AUG. 2, the chairman of the House Judiciary Committee obtained permission from the presiding officer of the House to file the report for printing. He had until midnight on Monday, Aug. 2, to prepare the report for the printers. It was inserted in The Congressional Record, which, though dated Monday, Aug. 2, was not available, as is the custom, to readers at the Capitol or elsewhere until the next day.

So on Tuesday morning, Aug. 3, members of the House were given their copies of The Record which contained the conference report. The voting on the bill by the House took place in the early afternoon of that day. The House disposed of the bill that same day after only 53 minutes of actual debate, and the Senate put it through with less than a half hour of debate on Wednesday, Aug. 4.

Now, the real question is: How many members of the House of Representatives or the Senate actually read the measure? The conference report included many important changes. There were sections which were contrary to decisions on constitutional questions in the past but the measure was rushed through.

If a confidential poll of the members of both houses could have been obtained, it would probably have shown that few members did read the final bill before they voted on the proposed law.

CONSTITUTIONAL government can certainly not be made effective if members of Congress do not read the laws they are passing. To be sure, some of the principles contained in the measure were previously the subject of debate, but the responsibility of each member of the House and Senate is to read the final text of every measure up for passage.

The Senate-House Conference Committee used considerable latitude in rephrasing the language of the bill. Some of it is unprecedented.

It's an extraordinarily complex measure, and the members should have been given more time for proper consideration on such an important law but the record does not show that anybody objected to the hasty way the final conference report was handled.

The Chicago Tribune in an editorial pointed out some of the significant aspects of the new law as follows:

"The act is designed to end discrimination against Negroes in certain states. . . . The law does not apply at all to Illinois, where there are no literacy qualifications for voting and where more than 50 per cent of the people voted in 1964. Illiterates not only are permitted to vote in Illinois, but are encouraged and bribed to do so in many Chicago wards. The Chicago system of permitting poll officials to 'assist' illiterate voters in the voting machine booths gives the Democratic party organization control of tens of thousands of votes. . . .

"WHEN THOUSANDS of votes are stolen at a Chicago election, the effect is to deny equality to honest Illinois voters. But there are no federal watchers at Illinois polls. The new law provides for no injunctions against Chicago frauds. There is no provision for holding up the results of elections until illegal votes are eliminated. The Johnson administration is for honest, nondiscriminatory elections in the Southern States."

Certainly any legislation which seeks to eliminate discrimination in registering voters is laudable in purpose. But the penal provisions seem to have been limited only to certain states. When Congress passes a law whose text many of the members may not have read, it's a sad commentary on the processes of government nowadays.

Letters To The Editor

(Editor's Note — In the following letter, County Commissioner James Boyd is replying to an article published Aug. 4 which quoted Commissioner Frank Wilson as branding as "erroneous and false" charges which Mr. Boyd had made on July 30 relative to the County Home near Lisbon when he spoke at a meeting of the Lions Club here.)

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I feel that it is my duty to the people of Columbiana County to reply to an article which appeared in The Review of Aug. 4.

I have said nothing that it is necessary to retract and instead I will reaffirm the statements that I have made.

The report for the County Home prepared by Supt. Russell Phillis for the year ending Dec. 31, 1964, shows a cash income of $10,000. This report was accepted by the auditor of the state of Ohio — also the Budget Commission of Columbiana County. The county committee consists of the prosecuting attorney, Warren Bettis; the county treasurer, Vincent Judge, and the county auditor, Kenneth Bell. The accepted report set up a budget for the year 1965 at the County Home as follows: Amount carried over from last year (1964), $13,505.75; amount from the 7-mill levy, $149,680; amount from the sale of farm produce, $10,000; income from Social Security and Pensions, $54,600.

The total then available in 1966 for the operation of the home would be $227,785.75.

When the county commissioners set up the budget for the year 1966, they allocated the amount of $139,000 for the operation of the County Home and $27,000 for the operation of the County Nursing Home. I have a copy of the budget and the County Home report in my desk at Lisbon and will gladly show them to all interested persons.

As for the farm, no hay was purchased in 1964. The barn burned in 1964 and destroyed all the seed potatoes. It was too late in the season to buy seed potatoes, so it was necessary to procure part of the potatoes used at the home. Veterinary expenses were necessary to keep the cattle herd in good condition.

Mr. Robert Bycroft, superintendent of the Welfare Department and his staff took inventory of the clothing situation at the home. On his report dated May 26, 1965, which is on file, he stated that a sufficient supply of clothing was available for all the residents of the home and infirmary.

Like most residents of the county, I am most deeply interested in the care and welfare of the residents of our County Home and infirmary. I am striving to keep it one of the outstanding homes in the state. I am always available to discuss any situation at the home with any person or group of citizens.

Minority Calls The Shots

When the Ohio General Assembly convened last January, everyone was haunted by the potential standoff created by an election which put 16 Republicans and 16 Democrats head to head in the Senate.

As it turned out, they worried with good cause.

The lack of a clear majority was a threat during the entire session but only during the last few days did it operate to tie the entire legislature into knots.

BECAUSE OF IT, the Assembly was unable to resolve the important capital improvements bill which appropriates funds from the $290 million bond issue approved by Ohioans last May.

The stubbornness of one Republican—Sen. Ross Pepple of Lima—and the solidarity of the 16 Democrats has thrown up an insurmountable barrier to House members who have insisted their version of the bill is the only one which represents what the people voted for.

This is the issue which the legislature must resolve when it returns Aug. 31 for what hopefully will be the last gasp of its prolonged death throes.

Stubborn as he has been about his amendments to the bill, Pepple could have gotten nowhere without the ironclad backing of the Democrats who take their orders without question from one man—Democratic Leader Frank King of Toledo, whose job as AFL-CIO president has given him new authority.

Until King gives the signal, the capital improvements bill will remain stymied unless the House knuckles under and agrees to Pepple's fund-juggling amendments or unless Pepple himself backs off.

IF PEPPLE and the "King's men" prevail over the objections of most House members and all 15 of Pepple's GOP colleagues in the Senate, it will mean 17 individuals have dictated the terms to an entire legislature.

This is what the lack of a political majority can mean—legislation affecting all of Ohio but representing the whims of only a small minority in the General Assembly.

Over The Top?

Another phase of the Patterson Field Improvement Fund campaign will begin in September when the committee in charge sponsors a carnival.

Much has been accomplished already in the $50,000 program. But much remains to be done—and it takes money.

New bleachers — already erected, new lights, resodding of the field, a new press box and work on the concrete stands are included in the work.

A better Patterson Field will be the result.

With football just around the corner, what better time to contribute to a deserving fund and put the campaign over the top!

Eight Million Autos A Year?

When the auto industry closes out the last of the 1965 models this month, it will close its books on its most successful year in history—a combined industry output of about 8.85 million cars, far exceeding the record 7.89 million cars built during the 1964 model year.

Two of the automakers already have finished production of their 1965 models. Chrysler Corp's. production rose 16 per cent from its previous record to 1.44 million cars. American Motors, however, fell 1 per cent from last year to 391,366 cars this year, a decline, attributed by company officials to the company's lingering identification with the out-of-favor compact auto.

General Motors, the leader of the industry, will have built about 4.56 million 1965 model cars when it closes out its last numbers in about two weeks. GM topped 1964 by 7 per cent. Ford's output of 2.46 million cars will top its 1964 record by 19 per cent.

As the industry turns to the production of 1966 models, analysts along Wall Street, and others, are skeptical about the industry's chances of setting another record. They believe that if the economy should stall, even temporarily this winter, autos will suffer.

Industry officials are optimistic however and believe that the cut in auto excise taxes will leave sufficient steam in consumer demand to hold sales at 1965 levels. They also believe that they can count on selling around 8 million cars a year from now on, counting on the 6 million cars that are scrapped annually plus 2 million new buyers coming into the market as the population expands.

It is doubtful though that Detroit can turn in a 1966 model year that will top 1965 by much.

Dropouts That Hurt

We parents have been so engrossed with the national student dropout problem that we have completely overlooked another major school problem the high dropout rate among teachers.

According to Robert N. Bush of Stanford University, more than half the new teachers who receive their certificates each June will not be teaching two years later. He further adds that about the same number teaching in their first year do not intend to be teaching five years later.

Perhaps it's a case where example is stronger than precept.

Nothing To Celebrate

Indonesia will mark its 20th anniversary of independence from Dutch rule Tuesday with little to celebrate other than the political advantage it may have gained from the splintering of Singapore from the Malaysia Federation.

With Sukarno showing a more pronounced swing to the left and with the island republic gripped by economic hardship, one can only wonder how long it may be before independence is exchanged for Communist control.

ECONOMICALLY, the 100 million or so Indonesians never have had it worse.

Despite the fact that the country is one of the world's richest in natural resources, a cruel food deficit continues to grip the archipelago.

Sukarno's eight-year development plan, launched in 1961, is a dismal failure because of mismanagement and corruption in high government circles.

The government, meanwhile, continues to spend millions in economic aid — mostly from Red China — for weapons.

Sukarno can shoulder most of the blame for Indonesia's plight.

His stiff anti - Western attitude has plunged U.S. - Indonesian relations to new depths. American aid, formerly worth $100 million a year, has been shut off and diplomatic relations have been crippled.

It has become evident that the mercurial Sukarno is motivated as much by a need to distract attention from Indonesia's internal turmoil as by his craving to build a Pacific island empire.

AFTER SWALLOWING up West New Guinea in 1962 — with American help — Sukarno began his confrontation with the newly independent Malaysia which he has vowed to crush.

His willingness to cast his lot with Red China on the assumption that twin pillars of power can dominate all Southeast Asia has put economically crippled Indonesia in line for easy plucking by the Communists.

In almost every way, Indonesia's observance of its 1945 declaration of independence from the Dutch is a grim reminder of just how close this strategic island republic is to becoming an appendage of the Communist world.

Johnson On Spot

By James Marlow

President Johnson is on the spot.

By Monday he must find a solution that will keep Republican critics quiet, save face for the United States, and get the United States, Russia and the United Nations off the hook.

This is the hook: The Soviet Union, France, Belgium, South Africa, Yemen and eight Communist countries owe $108 million to the United Nations as their share of the cost of keeping the peace in the Middle East and the Congo.

Russia's share is $62.2 million. Russia refuses to pay, arguing that the way the U.N. decision to send peace-keeping forces into the Middle East and the Congo was made illegal. France takes a similar position.

But the United States has been making Russia its main target and insisted the Soviets must pay up or lose their vote in the U.N. General Asembly.

If that happened, and Russia and her satellites quit the world organization, only a shell would be left. This argument for months has made a mess of the United Nations. The United States has been softening its stand.

An American backdown, particularly at this time when the United States doesn't want Russia to get involved in the Vietnamese war, seems certain. Johnson's problem is how to do it gracefully.

Some Republicans in Congress began to attack the Johnson administration for what they called backdown. Yet, in this case someone has to yield or the United Nations may go up in smoke.

This is why it seems inevitable Johnson by Monday will have to work out some formula with which Russia can agree but still do it adroitly enough to keep critics off his neck and save some face for the United States.

The 33-nation U.N. committee considering the dues problem meets Monday.

There Must Be A Better Way

Red Efforts In Brazil Detailed

By Victor Riesel

RIO DE JANEIRO

Up in New York City not too many years ago a Soviet courier met a powerful underworld thug (now dead) in a West 46th St. restaurant and offered him $1 million to permit the American Communists to operate politically in that strategic harbor.

Victor Riesel

That was a penny - pinching deal compared with the pacts made here, before the military revolution, between the Brazilian Communists and the regime so much adored by leftists across the world. A political partnership was developed permitting the Communist party to control virtually all of labor in this country, while the men in power piled up fortunes literally worth billions of dollars.

Records here reveal that the ousted leftist ex president Joao Goulart had amassed in his name and that of his family and business associates more than 1.75 million acres of valuable land.

THOUGH GOVERNING allegedly in the name of the proletariat, this man, head of the Brazilian Labor party, had become the world's largest landowner.

His fazendas (haciendas) and other real estate were widely scattered in this huge land which is half a continent in size. So he used air force plans to link them. The federal aircraft also were used to transport managerial staffs, agricultural machinery, building material and even cattle.

He and his brother - in - law, Leonel Brizola, head of the "wild men" power bloc in the Labor party, also took care of their friends and Communist political allies. Their cronies, too, picked up fazendas and thus were eligible for special subsidies, much of which was intended for sugar workers's wages.

Again, records show that a considerable share of these large sums went into foreign banks and even the purchase of private airplanes.

Buddies and Communists and their relatives were put on government payrolls by the tens of thousands. They rarely showed up for work.

WHEN THE REFORM administration of President Gen. Castello Branco, leader of the anti - Communist revolution, ordered all federal employes to report to work, thousands of them did not even know the addresses of bureaus from which they had been drawing their pay. And some of them had several such jobs.

When President Branco insisted his orders be obeyed, there were mob scenes in many government agencies. "Employes" jammed the government offices — standing around the big rooms because there were hardly enough desks and chairs for all on the payroll.

The Communists in turn, got their biggest chunk of government pie from the federal corporation known as Petrobras—the state-owned oil business.

They had virtual control of the company. They got thousands of their party people on its payroll. They used its funds to finance their activities. They commandeered trucks to carry party activists to big Communist demonstrations.

ALL THESE instances could be multiplied tenfold. But why did the multi-millionaire Goulart make a pact with the Marxists? Simple. Goulart and his inner group, failing to read history, thought they could use the Communist apparatus to keep the government in power.

Only part of the military stood in their way. So Goulart and his clique attempted to subvert their own government in the hope that a peoples' rebellion led by Communists would crush the democratic military force—and thus make it possible for Goulart to rule as absolute dictator.

The macabre history of the final months of Goulart's regime were outlined for me by the suave and cultured Brazilian foreign minister, Vasco Leitao da Cunha, in his old, tradition-laden office.

He described Brizola's organization of guerrilla cadres called "Groups of 11." Mr. da Cunha, the Dean Rusk of Brazil, a taut, eloquent chap, described revolutionary pamphlets put out by the Goulart ministry of education which urged the peasants to rebel.

Works With Blinding Speed

Senate Approves Payload Of Bills, Appointments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like a slot machine when someone hits the jackpot, the Senate spewed out Wednesday a payload of Johnson administration legislation and appointment confirmations seldom matched in modern times.

Working with a blinding speed foreign to its nature, the Senate:

—Passed by a 57-33 vote a bill establishing a housing and urban development department. This measure, terms of which must be compromised with the House, creates an 11th Cabinet post after 10 years of controversy.

—Whooped through by a unanimous vote of the 89 senators present a $1-billion pay increase for 4 million service personnel. This was not, however, an unalloyed administration success. The increase is more than twice the $447 million President Johnson proposed and administration spokesmen argued for. The bill was sent to a Senate-House conference to iron out differences.

—Rammed through and sent to the President on a voice vote a $115-million Peace Corps authorization stripped of a provision aimed at preventing director Sargent Shriver from heading both this activity and the antipoverty program.

—Rode down scattered opposition and confirmed on a voice vote Johnson's appointment of Abe Fortas, his long-time lawyer friend, to the Supreme Court. Also approved by similar votes were the nominations of Judge Thurgood Marshall, a Negro, as solicitor general and John W. Gardner of New York as secretary of health, education and welfare.

Without stopping to catch its breath, the Senate confirmed 15 other nominations and passed a half dozen minor bills.

The administration took some lumps at the other end of the Capitol, however. A House Armed Services subcommittee killed, at least for this year, a project pushed hard by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara for streamlining Army reserves by dropping low priority units and consolidating high priority ones with the National Guard.

15 Rioters Arrested

10 Los Angeles Officers Injured In Wild Rioting

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Wild rioting erupted in a crowd of 1,500 persons Wednesday night and squads of helmeted policemen were pelted with rocks, bottles and bricks as they swarmed into the predominantly Negro neighborhood.

Deputy Police Chief Roger E. Murdock said about 10 of the 100 officers were injured and 15 rioters arrested. He said many Negroes were injured by flying objects thrown at motorists but few required hospital treatment.

As the riot increased in violence early today, a television station's 1965 station wagon mobile unit was overturned and burned. Police said rioters attacked fire units at the scene, breaking windshields with rocks and bottles.

Murdock said 40 squad cars with 100 officers were dispatched to the scene with orders to arrest persons "for any violation they see."

Residents of the suburban Watts neighborhood told police that many of the rioters were breaking store and apartment windows and some looting was reported.

Murdock said the riot started out 7 p.m. when a California Highway Patrol officer arrested a Negro on suspicion of drunken driving. He said a crowd gathered as the suspect's mother began arguing with officers and then erupted in violence when she was arrested.

Police said at least 50 vehicles were damaged, including a bus that had nearly all of its windows broken.

Marquette Frye, 21, driver of the car stopped by highway patrolmen, was booked on suspicion of drunken driving, battery on a police officer and resisting arrest.

His brother, Ronald, 22, a passenger in the vehicle, also was booked on suspicion of battery on an officer and on interfering with an officer.

Their mother, Rena, 49, also was booked on suspicion of interfering with a police officer.

17 More To Face Hearings On Tax

Affidavits have been flied in Municipal Court against 17 more city residents accusing them of failing to file final returns on their 1964 income.

The new charges are the latest in a series of affidavits filed by D. G. Wilkinson, tax commissioner, to clear up a backlog of income tax cases.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff has scheduled hearings on the charges for Aug. 27.

In keeping with the court's procedure, however, the names will not be made public until after Bailiff Wilbert P. Taylor has served summonses on the defendants.

Hearings are scheduled Tuesday before Chertoff on another group of defendants served last week.

Firemen Get Call As Fixture Burns

A defective starter on a fluorescent fixture sent firemen to the Troy Cleaners store at 508 Walnut St. at 8:45 a. m.

Firemen said the starter blew out and the burning ballast created an odor in the store.

A mattress and box springs stored in a garage were damaged along with the wiring in a blaze of undetermined origin Wednesday night, firemen reported.

Firemen received the call to the home of Steve Kasunich, 1420 Pennsylvania Ave., at 10:02 p. m.

North Side firemen went to St. Clair Ave. and North St. at 5 p. m. after a passerby stopped at the station and reported an auto apparently was on fire. However, there was no fire, firemen said.

Works With Blinding Speed

Senate Approves Payload Of Bills, Appointments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like a slot machine when someone hits the jackpot, the Senate spewed out Wednesday a payload of Johnson administration legislation and appointment confirmations seldom matched in modern times.

Working with a blinding speed foreign to its nature, the Senate:

—Passed by a 57-33 vote a bill establishing a housing and urban development department. This measure, terms of which must be compromised with the House, creates an 11th Cabinet post after 10 years of controversy.

—Whooped through by a unanimous vote of the 89 senators present a $1-billion pay increase for 4 million service personnel. This was not, however, an unalloyed administration success. Pepple Accuses Sen. Gray Of Sidetracking Funds Bill

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Sen. Ross Pepple, R-Allen, says approval of the $280 million capital improvements bill was sidetracked in the Ohio Legislature Tuesday by the refusal of Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray to accept a compromise agreement between Pepple and Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Pepple said he and Rhodes reached agreement at a meeting Tuesday morning on the Lima Republican's controversial $4.5 million amendment to the bill.

He said the agreement called for adding the $4.5 million for community colleges and university branches from funds yet unallocated instead of diverting the money from airport development and Ohio Historical Society allotments, as Pepple originally had proposed.

Pepple pointed out that of the $290 million bond issue passed by voters last spring, about $10 million remains unemcumbered. With the compromise, the appropriation bill would be raised to $284.5 million, still leaving $5.5 million of the bond issue money untouched, he said.

Pepple said he and Rhodes worked out the compromise "within three minutes" at the Tuesday morning meeting, but Gray refused to accept it during the legislative session that night.

However, Pepple said he was confident the legislature would pass the capital improvements bill, including his amendment, when it reconvenes Aug. 31.

Ohio Project OKd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Agriculture Committee has approved construction of a $1,307,105 watershed project on 32,150 acres in Ohio's Noble and Guernsey counties along Buffalo Creek. Federal share of the cost is $746,268.

Negroes' Advice On Voter Signup Sought By GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are seeking the advice of Negroes from across the nation in an effort to enlist Negro voters in the South and in the big cities of the North.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., said today his party will be "a bunch of suckers" if they don't do the job.

"We're not talking about taking over the Negro community and turning it into a Republican camp," another party strategist said. "We're not that impractical.

"We're trying to build a very stable, long-range base that we can grow from," he added. "We're not expecting miracles."

National Chairman Ray C. Bliss plans to confer before the month is out with a team of top Negro Republicans from all sections of the country, a party official said.

Father, Son Will Graduate Together From University

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Like father, like son.

That's the case of William H. Sharp Sr., 53, and William H. Sharp Jr., 23, father and son from Overpeck in Butler County who will graduate together Aug. 29 from Miami University.

After receiving their bachelor degrees in education, each will begin a teaching job this fall.

Both started their college careers as part-time students in Miami's branch at nearby Hamilton. The son's wife, the former Lynne Flint of Middletown, is also a Miami student and expects to graduate next April.

The elder Sharp, who graduated from high school in Gosden in the depression days of 1930, has been a minister, poultry farmer and operator of a poultry produce market in Hamilton.

The son has helped pay his college expenses by working in the circulation department of the Hamilton Journal-News, doing substitute teaching and working two summers in a Hamilton factory.

While going to school, the father taught at a Middletown school during 1963 and 1964. This fall he plans to teach new-method mathematics in the seventh and eighth grades at Mason. He is also pastor of Hickory Flats Church of Christ near Overpeck.

The son plans to teach art in the fifth and sixth grades at Mad River School in Dayton.

Cleveland State University Picks Acting President

CLEVELAND (AP)—The new Cleveland State University has moved toward its fall opening by naming an acting president for the first semester and establishing an office of campus planning.

Acting president is Dr. Harry K. Newburn, a planning consultant for the CSU trustees since February. He will receive a $14,000 salary for the first semester.

The planning office, directed by Richard N. Schwartz, will have an operating budget of $350,000 for the first 10 months. Fenn College will receive $114,000 for planning done by its staff in July and August. Fenn is being absorbed by the new state school.

The trustees voted at a meeting Wednesday to ask the State Board of Regents to increase the state subsidy per student from $250 to $300. The trustees said operating expenses are higher in large urban areas than in smaller cities or rural areas.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are seeking the advice of Negroes from across the nation in an effort to enlist Negro voters in the South and in the big cities of the North.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., said today his party will be "a bunch of suckers" if they don't do the job.

"We're not talking about taking over the Negro community and turning it into a Republican camp," another party strategist said. "We're not that impractical.

"We're trying to build a very stable, long-range base that we can grow from," he added. "We're not expecting miracles."

National Chairman Ray C. Bliss plans to confer before the month is out with a team of top Negro Republicans from all sections of the country, a party official said.

Father, Son Will Graduate Together From University

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Like father, like son.

That's the case of William H. Sharp Sr., 53, and William H. Sharp Jr., 23, father and son from Overpeck in Butler County who will graduate together Aug. 29 from Miami University.

After receiving their bachelor degrees in education, each will begin a teaching job this fall.

Both started their college careers as part-time students in Miami's branch at nearby Hamilton. The son's wife, the former Lynne Flint of Middletown, is also a Miami student and expects to graduate next April.

The elder Sharp, who graduated from high school in Goshen in the depression days of 1930, has been a minister, poultry farmer and operator of a poultry produce market in Hamilton.

The son has helped pay his college expenses by working in the circulation department of the Hamilton Journal-News, doing substitute teaching and working two summers in a Hamilton factory.

While going to school, the father taught at a Middletown school during 1963 and 1964. This fall he plans to teach new-method mathematics in the seventh and eighth grades at Mason. He is also pastor of Hickory Flats Church of Christ near Overpeck.

The son plans to teach art in the fifth and sixth grades at Mad River School in Dayton.

Cleveland State University Picks Acting President

CLEVELAND (AP)—The new Cleveland State University has moved toward its fall opening by naming an acting president for the first semester and establishing an office of campus planning.

Acting president is Dr. Harry K. Newburn, a planning consultant for the CSU trustees since February. He will receive a $14,000 salary for the first semester.

The planning office, directed by Richard N. Schwartz, will have an operating budget of $350,000 for the first 10 months. Fenn College will receive $114,000 for planning done by its staff in July and August. Fenn is being absorbed by the new state school.

The trustees voted at a meeting Wednesday to ask the State Board of Regents to increase the state subsidy per student from $250 to $300. The trustees said operating expenses are higher in large urban areas than in smaller cities or rural areas.

Smaller Portions For Smaller Proportions

One teener, asked what she considered a portion, laughed and said, "Eat as much as you want." By that plan you practice overeating. It's excess food that adds padding. A young lady writes. . .

Ida Jean Kain

"Please tell me how to stop stuffing! sometimes I eat so much it actually makes me hurt, but I can't seem to quit. Do you have any suggestions?"

—:—

YES. For instance, when you set the dinner table, put a small plate at your place. Take one generous helping of everything your mother has planned for the meal. If you eat fast, you won't taste the food! To stop wolfing your meal, try this plan: Eat the food you have in your mouth before you even fork into the next mouthful. Fast eating leads to overeating. By eating more slowly you give the satiety mechanism time to be effective.

Avoid two-fisted eating. Do not eat with a fork in one hand, and a piece of bread in the other. You can see that's calories on the double. You might cut the slice of bread in three sections, and enjoy eating each piece.

The practice of overeating has stretched your food capacity and now it takes too much food to give that feeling of satisfaction. So, the second rule of the game is this: At the finish of an adequate, balanced meal, while you could still relish more, get up from the table. Walk into the other room.

TEEN-AGERS, while you sit and stuff, you may not feel you are overeating. It's 20 minutes later that you get the crowded, full feeling amidships. If you have the gumption to get up from the dinner table before you feel completely satisfied, you will find that later you do feel content. You're shrinking your food capacity, and slimming down.

Devise your own strategy for action. One 12-year-old hit upon the plan of placing a piece of fruit — an apple, a peach, or a plum — in the living room, before dinner. At the finish of the meat, potato, vegetable part of the meal, she would ask to be excused. Taking her fruit dessert with her, she walked around the block. The plan worked for her — it might for you.

A 16-year-old wrote: "The way I lost 20 bulging pounds was to cut out second helpings, and to stop eating sweets between meals. I layed off the candy bars, milk shakes and sodas. Tell your overweight teeners they can keep in control if they never deliberately overeat."

BREAKFAST: Fruit or juice, poached egg, on slice of toast, lightly buttered, and glass of milk, whole or skim. Luncheon: Sandwich (made of left - over meat, cheese or chicken), glass of milk, and piece of fruit.

Late - Afternoon Pick-Up: Hard cooked egg or whole milk. Dinner: Generous serving of lean meat, (fish or chicken—6 oz. cooked wt.) two vegetables, sliced tomato or green salad, slice of bread, lightly buttered and cantaloupe, or other fresh fruit. At night try a diet soft drink.

Send stamped, self - addressed long envelope for Revised Calorie Chart. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Review. Post card requests cannot be answered.

CIC Asks Listing Of All Potential Plant Locations

Area owners of property which are potential industrial sites or buildings have been urged to list their holdings with the Community Improvement Corp.

The CIC at present is seeking a specific type of building for a firm interested in establishing a plant, but also wants to maintain a complete file on all available sites, George A. Shaw, president, explained.

A firm has indicated a need for a one-story building of about 60,000 square feet, with 16-foot ceilings, adjacent to railroad facilities and with parking for at least 80 autos.

The CIC has a number of various types of plant sites in its folio, Shaw said, but wants to learn of any other possible tracts or potential locations which are available.

Owners are required to provide their name, address and description of the property by letter to the Community Improvement Corp., Box 94, East Liverpool.

Shaw said topographic maps are being prepared for identifying industrial sites in the district to aid in the CIC's efforts to obtain additional industry.

"Creation of new jobs and expansion of our local economy is vital to the development of East Liverpool and its neighboring communities," Shaw stated, "and the drive for new industry is a task which all residents should be willing to share.

"We hope anyone with land or buildings which could be utilized for industrial purposes will notify us."

Breaking Of Windows Leads To Stolen Car

A report of vandals breaking windows led to the discovery of a stolen car on the Wells Hollow Rd. at a point where St. Clair, Madison and Yellow Creek Townships join, according to Chief Clarence Ammon of the Madison Township police.

Ammon said the 1956 sedan owned by Mrs. Larry R. Dowling of Highlandtown was found abandoned along the road Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. Vandals had been breaking the windows when residents of the area heard the noise and notified police.

The car was stolen in Highlandtown July 30. At the same time, a 1964 sedan owned by Orville Schoolcraft of Wellsville was found abandoned in Highlandtown.

Police said the thief apparently stole the Schoolcraft car and then left it to take the Dowling vehicle.

Leaders Plan Rights March In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Local civil rights leaders, some of whom ended a marathon sit-in Wednesday, scheduled a downtown march tonight despite warnings from city officials that a parade permit has not been issued.

The march is scheduled for 7 p.m. from City Hall to a site several blocks away where a convention hall is being built by the city. Leaders would not say if they plan to sit-in at the construction site.

The march is planned by the Cincinnati chapters of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Congress of Racial equality.

The civil rights groups said it is part of their demonstration to point up alleged discrimination against the hiring of Negro workers for construction jobs in the Cincinnati area.

Mrs. Lucille Green said a parade permit had not been obtained, but that her husband, Dr. Bruce H. Green, president of the Cincinnati, NAACP,. had been trying to reach Police Chief Stanley R. Schrotel.

Acting City Manager Arthur D. Bird said he instructed Safety Director Robert W. Lockridge to enforce city policies and ordinances requiring permits for marches.

A court order broke up a 27-hour sit-in Wednesday at the offices of the Cincinnati AFL-CIO Labor Council. Ten whites and Negroes had been sitting-in there since 1 p.m. Tuesday.

Most of the demonstrators said they were surprised by the court order and had expected action by the police.

The temporary restraining order prohibiting the sit-in from continuing was issued by Common Pleas Judge Louis J. Schneider at the request of William Sheehan, secretary of the Labor Council. The order said the demonstrators forcibly occupied the premises.

The demonstrators had camped in the office of Al Bilik, president of the Labor Council, who would not allow warrants to be signed for their arrests. He issued a statement later, saying he was "deeply concerned" about the discrimination charges.

Bilik said the demonstration at his office may cause him to withdraw as a City Council candidate.

The sit-in at Bilik's office was one of several held at various spots in the last two weeks. There were arrests in the other demonstrations.

The Ohio Civil Rights Commission, meanwhile, said it had started an investigation of employment practices of 100 contractors and 47 local unions in the Cincinnati area.

CHILDREN NO LONGER NEED HAVE MEASLES.

Nearly five million American and Canadian children come down with measles each year. Mild as this disease is considered, some cases have serious complication which have caused death. Experts say measles now do more harm than polio.

Dr. Saul Krugman of New York University School of Medicine recently stated, "there is no excuse for any child to endure the disease of measles or its risks. Newly perfected vaccines almost always prevent that possibility. So, if your child has not yet had measles, go to your physician for protection against this danger."

10 Days Seen To Find Cause Of Silo Blast

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — The Air Force says it will probably be at least 10 days before it's known what caused an explosion and fire in a Titan II missile complex, killing 53 civilians.

A 30-man investigation team continued today its inspection of the blackened launch tube of America's mightiest ballistic missile — scene of the worst tragedy in the history of America's space and missile system.

Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert and an Arkansas congressional delegation went into the underground complex Wednesday, but returned to Washington without revealing any findings.

Zuckert said it will probably be 10 days to two weeks before "we have the answers to the questions now being asked."

He toured the site with Sens. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., and John L. McClellan, D-Ark., Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas.

Only two of the 55 workmen who were modifying the silo's physical plant survived Monday's explosion and fire.

"There will be no progress report on the investigation," said Capt. Douglas Wood, public information officer for Little Rock Air Force Base. Until "they come up with a probable cause or a definite cause."

A board headed by Brig. Gen. C. B. Stewart from the office of the inspector general is handling the investigation because, Zuckert said, "this is in connection with the missile program which cuts across more than one command."

Zuckert said there was a possibility of an "investigation board from the Strategic Air Command, but this has not been definitely decided."

The investigation is being held to determine what went wrong and to determine what added safety factors might be needed, he said, adding: "I will report our findings to the President."

The modification program on missile sites has been stopped by the Air Force, pending the investigation. The 54 Titan II sites are scattered in clusters of 18 around Little Rock, Ark., Tucson, Ariz., and Wichita, Kan. They were completed in 1963 at a cost of more than $400 million.

The 150-ton missile, capable of carrying a 24-megaton atomic warhead 18,000 miles an hour to targets 6,000 miles away, was in the launch tube Monday, but did not burn.

Expressions of sorrow and sympathy for the families of the men came from the Washington officials. Churches are remaining open in this central Arkansas town of 8,000 for prayers for the victims.

Mills said the delegation did not see all of the complex, "but we saw enough to know that it was horrible."

There are numerous safety devices in each Titan silo — temperature and humidity controls, electronic systems control, automatic sprinkler systems to fight fires, pressure control systems and others.

2 Boys Now Held In Burglary Case

Two East End boys, 13 and 11, have been turned over to juvenile authorities for the burglary of the Econ-O-Wash laundry on Pennsylvania Ave. Tuesday night after the oldest boy, nabbed by police early Wednesday morning, while trying to break into the laundry, admitted the earlier theft.

The 13-year-old was taken into custody by Police Lt. W. E. McDaniel about 1:50 a. m. yesterday while attempting to gain entrance to the laundry by prying strips from around a display window and chipping wood around a lock on the rear door.

After Conkle arrived, he discovered the office had been burglarized with keys to coin boxes on the automatic washers and a magnifying glass missing.

Questioned by police, the 13-year-old admitted the theft and implicated his younger companion, officers said. The boys gained entrance by making a hole in the restroom wall and then pushing plaster from the inside wall, police added.

Some of the keys were found in a trash can and a magnifying glass also was recovered.

Initiation Scheduled By City's Elks Lodge

A cribbage tournament will be staged Monday at 8 p. m. in the grill room, he said.

Fair's Plans Advanced During Board Meeting

LISBON — The Columbiana County Fair Board met Wednesday night at the fairgrounds to continue plans for the 120th annual exposition Aug. 25-29.

Board members selected Aug. 24-28 (Wednesday through Sunday) for the 1966 fair, subject to approval of the State Department of Agriculture.

Mrs. Velma Cope of Lisbon, fair board secretary, was authorized to invite Gov. James Rhodes and John M. Stackhouse, director of the state department of agriculture, to attend this month's fair.

Member Ike Skeels reported electricity has been installed in the new horse and pony barn and that Webber Plumbing and Heating of Lisbon is installing water and drains.

The board voted unanimously not to require a saliva test for horses in the pulling contests in a continuation of past policy.

Tom Rudebock, a member from Leetonia, announced that Johnny Tillotson, the singer who will appear during the grandstand show Thursday, Aug. 26, will appear on the Mike Douglas show (Channel 2, Pittsburgh) Tuesday from 1 to 2:30 p.m.

At the request of Robert H. Lewis, county 4-H agent, the board voted to purchase lumber for the 4-H'ers to build 16 additional booths in the 4-H building.

The board will arrange sufficient space for 4-H livestock entries, greater this year than ever before. There will be 93 steers, compared with 77 last year. Ponies and horses will be greater by 25 head and hogs and swine the same, more than offsetting a slight decrease in the number of dairy cows.

Dale Lowmiller and Nancy Lowmiller represented the junior fair board last night. They reported work on the junior board's projects are going well.

New Movie To Play Part In Beaver's Fund Appeal

"This is Beaver County," a new 10-minute, black and white sound movie about the United Funds of Beaver County and its member agencies was previewed Wednesday at a board of directors meeting at the Penn Beaver Hotel in Rochester.

"This movie vividly depicts UF services in action and will be used in conjunction with the 1965 campaign", stated S. W. Boone, advertising and public relations director for Babcock & Wilcox Co. and UF public relations chairman. "We hope that it is viewed by every United Fund volunteer and the numerous people who will be asked to contribute to this fall's drive. It shows where our United Fund dollars really go."

Myron J. Demeter, Ambridge plant manager of the Armco Steel Corp. and 1965 United Fund campaign chairman, said, "All stages are set for this fall's drive to raise $864,490. We hope that all in-company employe solicitations begin on Sept. 20 with the use of the new UF movie and United Fund volunteer speaker. The success of this year's campaign to support 43 voluntary agencies depends on the Fair Share support of every employed Beaver Countian."

Reports on other UF campaign activities were given by F. R. Dickenson, chairman of the Major Corporate Gifts Cultivation Committee; Oren O. Todd, chairman of the Chapter Plan program, and A. J. Hendry, chairman of the Fair Share Plan.

The directors also approved a supplemental appropriation to the Health and Welfare Council of Beaver County for the printing of a 30-page brochure entitled, "Beaver County Profile".

Those not planning to are Illinois, Louisiana, Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming. Considering such action are California and Texas.

Girl, 18, Unhurt When Car Upsets

SUMMITVILLE—An 18-year-old Salineville girl escaped serious injury when her 1960 compact auto veered off Route 644, swerved back on the road and overturned this morning.

Nancy Irene Hicks told Deputy Marshal Forrest Young she was unhurt in the mishap about 9:30. Young said she apparently lost control, the car went off the right side of the road, then swerved to the left and turned upsidedown in the middle of the road.

She was charged with reckless operation.

charged in they found only frightened villagers. No Americans were hit during the shooting.

Speaking of the downing of the Skyhawk, the spokesman said the three other planes of the flight returned safely and reported it was hit by a missile from the ground.

He added that no enemy aircraft were sighted in the area and no other groundfire was reported except that which hit the plane. The weather was reported clear.

No parachute was seen, the spokesman said, and the missing pilot was presumed killed.

It was the second reported downing of an American plane over North Viet Nam by an antiaircraft missile. A U.S. Air Force F4C Phantom jet was shot down about 40 miles west of Hanoi on July 25, and the Pentagon attributed this to a surface to air missile.

Two days later the Pentagon announced that Air Force jets had bombed the missile site from which the Phantom had been downed as well as another site. It said one site was destroyed, the other damaged and three of the attacking planes were shot down by conventional ground fire.

U.S. reconnaissance planes have located five other missile sites encircling Hanoi, but military spokesmen have raised the possibility that North Viet Nam also has mobile launching units.

The missile launchers are assumed to have been installed by Soviet technicians and may be manned by Soviet personnel.

In the ground war, U.S. and Vietnamese forces in the central highlands mobilized for big operations against the Viet Cong around the embattled special forces camp at Duc Co.

There was no indication whether the Viet Cong would stay and fight or follow their usual tactic of melting away in the face of a formidable enemy.

U.S. troops of the 173rd Airborne Brigade and the 2nd Brigade of the 1st Infantry Division were flown to Pleiku Tuesday and Wednesday to back up a Vietnamese relief column which reached Duc Co Wednesday night. The camp 30 miles southwest of Pleiku had been under siege since June 3.

The chief mission of the Americans was to be a reserve force. But U.S. authorities made plain they would be ordered into action if the Viet Cong launched a major counterattack.

A military spokesman said there had been no reports of further contact with the communists since around noon, when U.S. paratroopers drew small arms and machine-gun fire from a village 15 miles east of Duc Co. There were no casualties, he said, and a patrol entered the village and found it deserted.

At about the same time, U.S. informants said, the Viet Cong made a new mortar attack on the Duc Co camp. Some 30 rounds of 60mm fire landed about 300 yards short of the camp, they reported.

For months the Viet Cong has dominated Route 19, the strategic east-west highway crossing the central highlands from Qui Nohon on the South China Sea to the Cambodian border at a point five miles west of Duc Co.

The American paratroopers and infantrymen after their arrival moved out along Route 19 and dug in with artillery and armor well down the highway. They established blocking positions which enabled the large Vietnamese relief force to move up to Duc Co.

The Vietnamese column — scores of vehicles and hundreds of men — had suffered heavy casualties on Monday and had dug in just five miles from Duc Co to await reinforcements.

Other American units secured the Pleiku Airport.

The camp at Duc Co looked like a fortress, with scores of vehicles and tanks drawn up around it.

"For the time being anyway, our siege is over," said one of the 12 American advisers in the camp.

10 Days Seen To Find Cause Of Silo Blast

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — The Air Force says it will probably be at least 10 days before it's known what caused an explosion and fire in a Titan II missile complex, killing 53 civilians.

A 30-man investigation team continued today its inspection of the blackened launch tube of America's mightiest ballistic missile — scene of the worst tragedy in the history of America's space and missile system.

Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert and an Arkansas congressional delegation went into the underground complex Wednesday, but returned to Washington without revealing any findings.

Zuckert said it will probably be 10 days to two weeks before "we have the answers to the questions now being asked."

He toured the site with Sens. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., and John L. McClellan, D-Ark., Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas.

Only two of the 55 workmen who were modifying the silo's physical plant survived Monday's explosion and fire.

"There will be no progress report on the investigation," said Capt. Douglas Wood, public information officer for Little Rock Air Force Base. Until "they come up with a probable cause or a definite cause."

A board headed by Brig. Gen. C. B. Stewart from the office of the inspector general is handling the investigation because, Zuckert said, "this is in connection with the missile program which cuts across more than one command."

Zuckert said there was a possibility of an "investigation board from the Strategic Air Command, but this has not been definitely decided."

The investigation is being held to determine what went wrong and to determine what added safety factors might be needed, he said, adding: "I will report our findings to the President."

The modification program on missile sites has been stopped by the Air Force, pending the investigation. The 54 Titan II sites are scattered in clusters of 18 around Little Rock, Ark., Tucson, Ariz., and Wichita, Kan. They were completed in 1963 at a cost of more than $400 million.

The 150-ton missile, capable of carrying a 24-megaton atomic warhead 18,000 miles an hour to targets 6,000 miles away, was in the launch tube Monday, but did not burn.

Expressions of sorrow and sympathy for the families of the men came from the Washington officials. Churches are remaining open in this central Arkansas town of 8,000 for prayers for the victims.

Mills said the delegation did not see all of the complex, "but we saw enough to know that it was horrible."

There are numerous safety devices in each Titan silo — temperature and humidity controls, electronic systems control, automatic sprinkler systems to fight fires, pressure control systems and others.

2 Boys Now Held In Burglary Case

Two East End boys, 13 and 11, have been turned over to juvenile authorities for the burglary of the Econ-O-Wash laundry on Pennsylvania Ave. Tuesday night after the oldest boy, nabbed by police early Wednesday morning, while trying to break into the laundry, admitted the earlier theft.

The 13-year-old was taken into custody by Police Lt. W. E. McDaniel about 1:50 a. m. yesterday while attempting to gain entrance to the laundry by prying strips from around a display window and chipping wood around a lock on the rear door.

After Conkle arrived, he discovered the office had been burglarized with keys to coin boxes on the automatic washers and a magnifying glass missing.

Questioned by police, the 13-year-old admitted the theft and implicated his younger companion, officers said. The boys gained entrance by making a hole in the restroom wall and then pushing plaster from the inside wall, police added.

Some of the keys were found in a trash can and a magnifying glass also was recovered.

Initiation Scheduled By City's Elks Lodge

Initiation of candidates will be held at a meeting of Elks Lodge 258 tonight at 8 at the lodge home on W. 5th St.

Thomas Maley, secretary, reminded members the annual stag picnic will be Sunday at the DAV Country Club at West Point.

A cribbage tournament will be staged Monday at 8 p. m. in the grill room, he said.

Fair's Plans Advanced During Board Meeting

LISBON — The Columbiana County Fair Board met Wednesday night at the fairgrounds to continue plans for the 120th annual exposition Aug. 25-29.

Board members selected Aug. 24-28 (Wednesday through Sunday) for the 1966 fair, subject to approval of the State Department of Agriculture.

Mrs. Velma Cope of Lisbon, fair board secretary, was authorized to invite Gov. James Rhodes and John M. Stackhouse, director of the state department of agriculture, to attend this month's fair.

Member Ike Skeels reported electricity has been installed in the new horse and pony barn and that Webber Plumbing and Heating of Lisbon is installing water and drains.

The board voted unanimously not to require a saliva test for horses in the pulling contests in a continuation of past policy.

Tom Rudebock, a member from Leetonia, announced that Johnny Tillotson, the singer who will appear during the grandstand show Thursday, Aug. 26, will appear on the Mike Douglas show (Channel 2, Pittsburgh) Tuesday from 1 to 2:30 p.m.

At the request of Robert H. Lewis, county 4-H agent, the board voted to purchase lumber for the 4-H'ers to build 16 additional booths in the 4-H building.

The board will arrange sufficient space for 4-H livestock entries, greater this year than ever before. There will be 93 steers, compared with 77 last year. Ponies and horses will be greater by 25 head and hogs and swine the same, more than offsetting a slight decrease in the number of dairy cows.

Dale Lowmiller and Nancy Lowmiller represented the junior fair board last night. They reported work on the junior board's projects are going well.

New Movie To Play Part In Beaver's Fund Appeal

"This is Beaver County," a new 10-minute, black and white sound movie about the United Funds of Beaver County and its member agencies was previewed Wednesday at a board of directors meeting at the Penn Beaver Hotel in Rochester.

"This movie vividly depicts UF services in action and will be used in conjunction with the 1965 campaign", stated S. W. Boone, advertising and public relations director for Babcock & Wilcox Co. and UF public relations chairman. "We hope that it is viewed by every United Fund volunteer and the numerous people who will be asked to contribute to this fall's drive. It shows where our United Fund dollars really go."

Myron J. Demeter, Ambridge plant manager of the Armco Steel Corp. and 1965 United Fund campaign chairman, said, "All stages are set for this fall's drive to raise $864,490. We hope that all in-company employe solicitations begin on Sept. 20 with the use of the new UF movie and United Fund volunteer speaker. The success of this year's campaign to support 43 voluntary agencies depends on the Fair Share support of every employed Beaver Countian."

Reports on other UF campaign activities were given by F. R. Dickenson, chairman of the Major Corporate Gifts Cultivation Committee; Oren O. Todd, chairman of the Chapter Plan program, and A. J. Hendry, chairman of the Fair Share Plan.

The directors also approved a supplemental appropriation to the Health and Welfare Council of Beaver County for the printing of a 30-page brochure entitled, "Beaver County Profile".

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: How does a woman recover when "The Love of Her Life" says, 'Goodbye' "?

I was married to a man who was more like a father to me than a husband. He was 20 years my senior and died after we were married only four years. Then I met an attractive, intellectually stimulating, physically exciting man. I fell in love for the very first time. We had a mad, ecstatic affair and I gave myself to him body and soul. We talked of marriage and I was sure we were matched in heaven. My dreams collapsed when he told me I'd better forget about him because we were not "right" for each other.

It has been several months now and I can't get him out of my mind. I compare my love with every man I meet and there IS no comparison. Please tell me how can a woman recover from a broken heart?—EMPTY.

Dear Empty: Tell yourself it is self-defeating to cling to bits and pieces of something that no longer exists.

The woman who grieves over "The Man Who Got Away" has a talent for screening out all the unpleasant aspects of the relationship. She remembers only the heavenly moments. As time passes and memory dims, the dead romance becomes more beautful in death than it ever was in life.

The mind can accommodate only one thought at a time. Substitute another thought — something real and constructive for the fantasy.

Maid's Lament

Dear Ann: I worked as a hotel maid for 10 years and now I work in a motel. It's the same difference. The people who drive up in the most expensive cars and have the fanciest luggage are the biggest pigs. I hope you will print something about the way folks behave when they get outside their own homes. It's disgraceful.

Can you imagine grown people wiping their shoes on bedspreads and using face towels to polish their cars? Well, they do. They also spill ink on the walls, leave beer cans and whisky bottles under the beds, and walk out with 10 - cent water glasses.

They check out leaving the TV on and the dirty water in the bathtub. The worst pigs of all leave no tip for the maid who has to clean up the mess and make the room look perfect for the next guests.

If you print this, thousands of hard-working women will thank you. — FED UP WITH PEOPLE.

DEAR FED: Here it is, and you're welcome. I strongly recommend that neat folks who travel leave 50 cents a night for the maid. Pigs who travel should leave $1.

Laughing Daughter

Dear Ann: My married daughter lives in another city but I visit her quite often. She has teen-age children and a nice husband. Since her marriage she has developed a habit which I'm sure is keeping her back socially. She laughs too loud and too long.

It's plain to me that the girl has many acquaintances but no friends. I can see people cringe and actually withdraw from her before she gets a chance to show her fine qualities. She is exhausting, both to herself and to others.

I cannot discuss this with her because she would resent it. Is there any way I can help?—D. TROIT.

Dear D.: The girl's loud laughter is not the problem. It is only the symptom of a deeper problem which she is trying to cover up. If her husband is an understanding man suggest that he urge her to get professional help. If not, then suggest it yourself and risk the resentment.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

$14,118 Cost Seen In Discrimination Suit

CINCINNATI (AP)— Officials said it cost $14,118 to defend the Cincinnati Board of Education in a discrimination suit filed against the board by parents of 45 Negro children.

The board filed the costs Wednesday with the U. S. District Court, and named the parents as debtors.

The suit was dismissed against the board Tuesday by Judge John W. Peck, who said the parents failed to show their children were deprived of any rights. The parents said the board had allowed de facto segregation in city schools.

Sandusky Needs Head For Vocational School

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—Sandusky County is assured of having a vocational high school, but it has a problem—no one wants the job of directing it.

Roy Klay, county school superintendent, said Wednesday that an announcement for applications for the position was made two weeks ago but so far no one has applied.

Pope Paul VI made a historic trip to the Holy Land, thus becoming the first pope to visit there since the birth of Christianity.

Self-Styled Nazi Gang Member Is Sought In Thefts

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police sought today a member of a young, self-styled Nazi group which went on a two - month burglary spree and caused an unestimated amount of damage to an elementary school in suburban Eastlake.

Police arrested four members of the gang Wednesday. The boys range in age from 15 to 17. They told police they read Nazi literature and patterned their group after the Nazi party.

Two of the boys were arrested after police followed them from a store to a shack behind one of the youths' homes. Eastlake Police Chief David W. Dougherty said the youth identified two others who were arrested at their homes. A fifth boy was being sought.

Dougherty said the boys admitted throwing a homemade gasoline bomb at an entrance to Longfellow Elementary School in an attempt to blast through a door. He said the bomb failed to go off, but started a fire. The boys also admitted shooting out 68 windows in the school, he said.

Musial Cites Progress In Fitness Program

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Stan Musial, leader of the President's physical fitness program, says the march of American youth toward softness has been reversed.

"There's no question about it," said the former St. Louis Cardinal baseball star. "We've won an important victory with the physical fitness program."

Musial's remark came after release of a Pentagon report Wednesday which said that American boys are as healthy — or healthier — than those of 20 years ago.

Despite stricter interpretation of medical requirements, the military service rejection rate for physical reasons now is 14.8 per cent compared with 15.1 per cent during World War II.

Charged With Piracy, 5 Murders

Cuban Put In Cell Alone For His Own Protection

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Cuban exile charged with piracy of the coastal freighter Seven Seas and the murder of five fellow seamen has been placed in a cell alone "for his own protection."

At no time will Roberto Ramirez, 35, be allowed to mingle with other prisoners, said Sgt. Harold Adams of the county jail, "because of the circumstances of the case."

Ramirez, a muscular, dark-skinned Cuban national, was taken to the 8x10, windowless cell Wednesday night after the federal government decided it had jurisdiction over the slayings aboard the Seven Seas.

A U.S. commissioner signed the warrant and a hearing was set for today.

The violence aboard the Seven Seas started, Ramirez reportedly told federal authorities, when the captain and the crew threatened to report him for favoring Cuban dictator Fidel Castro.

The captain was shot to death on the bridge and thrown overboard. Three crewmen were shot in their sleep, and a fourth was killed and thrown into the Atlantic Ocean off the Florida Keys.

The only crewmen to survive was Burgwise Elwin, 17, who cowered in a chainlocker after he saw one shooting. He was rescued when the Coast Guard spotted the freighter drifting up the Gulf Stream Sunday afternoon.

A sixth crewman, the cook, apparently drowned when he jumped overboard to escape Ramirez.

For two hours Ramirez tried to sail the Seven Seas, apparently south toward Cuba where his wife and three daughters still live. The Coast Guard believes he had to abandon ship when the main tanks ran out of fuel and he didn't know how to switch to the full auxiliary tanks.

Ramirez was picked up early Tuesday 50 miles south of Miami in a 14-foot skiff from the Seven Seas. He carried a loaded .38-caliber pistol believed to be the murder weapon and a baby food jar full of ammunition.

The immigration department held him for a day and a half while Washington officials tried to unravel the complex question of who has jurisdiction over murder committed by a resident alien aboard a Panamanian-registered American-owned ship at sea.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Aaron Foosner said he could not discuss why Washington thought it was a federal case.

Officials said the Panamanian government had shown little interest in prosecution.

Klan Meeting Slated On Farm In Ohio

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Ku Klux Klan night meeting is scheduled Aug. 21 on a 20-acre farm between Cleveland and Medina near Interstate 71, and the national Klan chairman will be present.

James R. Venable, KKK chairman who lives in Tucker, Ga., will address the gathering, it was announced Wednesday. A spokesman said the meeting site will be made public on Venable's approval.

Parkie Scott of Oregonia is making arrangements for the rally. Scott's farm, 10 miles northeast of Lebanon, was the site of a Klan rally Memorial Day weekend.

Mother Found Guilty Of Neglecting Child

CLEVELAND (AP) — The mother of a child beaten by a baby sitter was found guilty of child neglect by Juvenile Court Judge John J. Toner Wednesday. She was found innocent of a charge of contributing to neglect by hiring an incompetent baby sitter.

The mother, Mrs. Dynisha Maguire, 28, faces a maximum penalty of a year in the Warrensville Workhouse and a $500 fine. Judge Toner postponed sentencing until Friday.

The baby sitter, a 17-year-old self-styled karate expert, is in juvenile detention home for psychiatric tests.

The President's flag has a dark blue rectangular background on which appears the coat of arms of the president in proper colors.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: How does a woman recover when "The Love of Her Life" says, 'Goodbye' "?

I was married to a man who was more like a father to me than a husband. He was 20 years my senior and died after we were married only four years. Then I met an attractive, intellectually stimulating, physically exciting man. I fell in love for the very first time. We had a mad, ecstatic affair and I gave myself to him body and soul. We talked of marriage and I was sure we were matched in heaven. My dreams collapsed when he told me I'd better forget about him because we were not "right" for each other.

It has been several months now and I can't get him out of my mind. I compare my love with every man I meet and there IS no comparison. Please tell me how can a woman recover from a broken heart?—EMPTY.

Dear Empty: Tell yourself it is self-defeating to cling to bits and pieces of something that no longer exists.

The woman who grieves over "The Man Who Got Away" has a talent for screening out all the unpleasant aspects of the relationship. She remembers only the heavenly moments. As time passes and memory dims, the dead romance becomes more beautful in death than it ever was in life.

The mind can accommodate only one thought at a time. Substitute another thought — something real and constructive for the fantasy.

Maid's Lament

Dear Ann: I worked as a hotel maid for 10 years and now I work in a motel. It's the same difference. The people who drive up in the most expensive cars and have the fanciest luggage are the biggest pigs. I hope you will print something about the way folks behave when they get outside their own homes. It's disgraceful.

Can you imagine grown people wiping their shoes on bedspreads and using face towels to polish their cars? Well, they do. They also spill ink on the walls, leave beer cans and whisky bottles under the beds, and walk out with 10 - cent water glasses.

They check out leaving the TV on and the dirty water in the bathtub. The worst pigs of all leave no tip for the maid who has to clean up the mess and make the room look perfect for the next guests.

If you print this, thousands of hard-working women will thank you. — FED UP WITH PEOPLE.

DEAR FED: Here it is, and you're welcome. I strongly recommend that neat folks who travel leave 50 cents a night for the maid. Pigs who travel should leave $1.

Laughing Daughter

Dear Ann: My married daughter lives in another city but I visit her quite often. She has teen-age children and a nice husband. Since her marriage she has developed a habit which I'm sure is keeping her back socially. She laughs too loud and too long.

It's plain to me that the girl has many acquaintances but no friends. I can see people cringe and actually withdraw from her before she gets a chance to show her fine qualities. She is exhausting, both to herself and to others.

I cannot discuss this with her because she would resent it. Is there any way I can help?—D. TROIT.

Dear D.: The girl's loud laughter is not the problem. It is only the symptom of a deeper problem which she is trying to cover up. If her husband is an understanding man suggest that he urge her to get professional help. If not, then suggest it yourself and risk the resentment.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

$14,118 Cost Seen In Discrimination Suit

CINCINNATI (AP)— Officials said it cost $14,118 to defend the Cincinnati Board of Education in a discrimination suit filed against the board by parents of 45 Negro children.

The board filed the costs Wednesday with the U. S. District Court, and named the parents as debtors.

The suit was dismissed against the board Tuesday by Judge John W. Peck, who said the parents failed to show their children were deprived of any rights. The parents said the board had allowed de facto segregation in city schools.

Sandusky Needs Head For Vocational School

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—Sandusky County is assured of having a vocational high school, but it has a problem—no one wants the job of directing it.

Roy Klay, county school superintendent, said Wednesday that an announcement for applications for the position was made two weeks ago but so far no one has applied.

Pope Paul VI made a historic trip to the Holy Land, thus becoming the first pope to visit there since the birth of Christianity.

Self-Styled Nazi Gang Member Is Sought In Thefts

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police sought today a member of a young, self-styled Nazi group which went on a two - month burglary spree and caused an unestimated amount of damage to an elementary school in suburban Eastlake.

Police arrested four members of the gang Wednesday. The boys range in age from 15 to 17. They told police they read Nazi literature and patterned their group after the Nazi party.

Two of the boys were arrested after police followed them from a store to a shack behind one of the youths' homes. Eastlake Police Chief David W. Dougherty said the youth identified two others who were arrested at their homes. A fifth boy was being sought.

Dougherty said the boys admitted throwing a homemade gasoline bomb at an entrance to Longfellow Elementary School in an attempt to blast through a door. He said the bomb failed to go off, but started a fire. The boys also admitted shooting out 68 windows in the school, he said.

Musial Cites Progress In Fitness Program

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Stan Musial, leader of the President's physical fitness program, says the march of American youth toward softness has been reversed.

"There's no question about it," said the former St. Louis Cardinal baseball star. "We've won an important victory with the physical fitness program."

Musial's remark came after release of a Pentagon report Wednesday which said that American boys are as healthy — or healthier — than those of 20 years ago.

Despite stricter interpretation of medical requirements, the military service rejection rate for physical reasons now is 14.8 per cent compared with 15.1 per cent during World War II.

Charged With Piracy, 5 Murders

Cuban Put In Cell Alone For His Own Protection

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Cuban exile charged with piracy of the coastal freighter Seven Seas and the murder of five fellow seamen has been placed in a cell alone "for his own protection."

At no time will Roberto Ramirez, 35, be allowed to mingle with other prisoners, said Sgt. Harold Adams of the county jail, "because of the circumstances of the case."

Ramirez, a muscular, dark-skinned Cuban national, was taken to the 8x10, windowless cell Wednesday night after the federal government decided it had jurisdiction over the slayings aboard the Seven Seas.

A U.S. commissioner signed the warrant and a hearing was set for today.

The violence aboard the Seven Seas started, Ramirez reportedly told federal authorities, when the captain and the crew threatened to report him for favoring Cuban dictator Fidel Castro.

The captain was shot to death on the bridge and thrown overboard. Three crewmen were shot in their sleep, and a fourth was killed and thrown into the Atlantic Ocean off the Florida Keys.

The only crewmen to survive was Burgwise Elwin, 17, who cowered in a chainlocker after he saw one shooting. He was rescued when the Coast Guard spotted the freighter drifting up the Gulf Stream Sunday afternoon.

A sixth crewman, the cook, apparently drowned when he jumped overboard to escape Ramirez.

For two hours Ramirez tried to sail the Seven Seas, apparently south toward Cuba where his wife and three daughters still live. The Coast Guard believes he had to abandon ship when the main tanks ran out of fuel and he didn't know how to switch to the full auxiliary tanks.

Ramirez was picked up early Tuesday 50 miles south of Miami in a 14-foot skiff from the Seven Seas. He carried a loaded .38-caliber pistol believed to be the murder weapon and a baby food jar full of ammunition.

The immigration department held him for a day and a half while Washington officials tried to unravel the complex question of who has jurisdiction over murder committed by a resident alien aboard a Panamanian-registered American-owned ship at sea.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Aaron Foosner said he could not discuss why Washington thought it was a federal case.

Officials said the Panamanian government had shown little interest in prosecution.

Klan Meeting Slated On Farm In Ohio

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Ku Klux Klan night meeting is scheduled Aug. 21 on a 20-acre farm between Cleveland and Medina near Interstate 71, and the national Klan chairman will be present.

James R. Venable, KKK chairman who lives in Tucker, Ga., will address the gathering, it was announced Wednesday. A spokesman said the meeting site will be made public on Venable's approval.

Parkie Scott of Oregonia is making arrangements for the rally. Scott's farm, 10 miles northeast of Lebanon, was the site of a Klan rally Memorial Day weekend.

Mother Found Guilty Of Neglecting Child

CLEVELAND (AP) — The mother of a child beaten by a baby sitter was found guilty of child neglect by Juvenile Court Judge John J. Toner Wednesday. She was found innocent of a charge of contributing to neglect by hiring an incompetent baby sitter.

The mother, Mrs. Dynisha Maguire, 28, faces a maximum penalty of a year in the Warrensville Workhouse and a $500 fine. Judge Toner postponed sentencing until Friday.

The baby sitter, a 17-year-old self-styled karate expert, is in juvenile detention home for psychiatric tests.

The President's flag has a dark blue rectangular background on which appears the coat of arms of the president in proper colors.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Gals: Here's another little tidbit I just discovered.

Occasionally, we buy 100 per cent nylon nighties in brilliant or pastel colors, instead of white.

In a year or two, some become muddy looking, and we think the color hasn't held up. For example: Some lovely pinks turn purplish; greens turn grey, and the blue becomes a brownish color.

Well—what are we going to do?

Since some of mine seemed to be a lost cause anyway, I decided to give the following method a whirl (after sending some of the gowns to a laundry for testing, and they came back still discolored).

I put the 100 per cent nylon nighties in a mixture of two quarts of warm water and one-fourth cup of bleach, using a stainless steel (or glass) bowl for this strong solution, I did NOT add detergent since some contain ammonia which forms a harmful gas when mixed with bleach.

After soaking the garments in this mixture for about 30 minutes, the colors were restored.

Nylon samples tested by this method were all restored to their original colors.

Gals, it really works.

Use the above treatment on COLORED 100 per cent nylons only — it will NOT work on white nylon or treated cottons, etc.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: I keep a supply of bubble gum handy when my 14-month-old baby becomes restless while eating in his highchair — not for him — FOR MYSELF!!!

When he starts hanging over the side, trying to stand on his head, etc., I pop a piece of bubble gum in my mouth and blow bubbles at him.

This fascinates him, and he finishes his meal sitting still.

Besides . . . it's fun, and a great tension reliever for me!

DEAR HELOISE: I cut the sleeves out of discarded T-shirts and cover them with your nylon net to use as dish-cloths.

The two sleeves together make the right thickness, and the cloth is just hand-size.

The body of the shirt can be used for many other things but the sleeve is not wasted.

L. L. H.

DEAR HELOISE: We know from experience that small youngsters needn't be scared out of their skins by that first visit to the barber.

My husband, who had never cut hair before or since, borrowed electric clippers from a friend, and we put our son in his highchair and trimmed his hair.

As I remember, he had three of these home haircuts, which weren't things of beauty, but certainly a joy forever!

Then, when he was taken for his professional trim, there was no screaming or struggling, and the barber didn't look grim when he saw us coming!

DEAR HELOISE: I was having difficulty storing my purses until I saw a fish stringer advertised. (It has eight hooks and cost less than 50 cents).

I bought one and put it on a wire clothes hanger. These clips are like safety pins so you can open them.

I attach a purse to each clip, then hang the string of purses on the rod in the clothes closet where they are out of the way.

Lausche, Young Vote Opposite On Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)— Ohio's U. S. senators cast opposing votes Wednesday in the 57-33 roll call by which the Senate passed a bill to create the new Cabinet Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche voted against the proposal while Sen. Stephen M. Young voted in favor. Both are Democrats.

Judge Makes Ruling On Prisoners' Work

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Prisoners at the Lake County Jail may not be taken off the grounds to work elsewhere unless absolutely necessary.

Common Pleas Court Judges John F. Clair and Robert L. Simmons ruled Wednesday that the sheriff will make the final decision whether trusties can leave. The ruling stemmed from contempt of court charges brought last May against Sheriff Edwin H. Cunningham, who was accused of using two prisoners to help tear down a house he bought. The sheriff was cleared of the charges.

PGA Swings Into Action Today At Laurel Valley Course

Nicklaus Ranks Strong Favorite

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — A legendary figure from the recent but dimming past is challenging the modern day idols for one of golf's most coveted prizes.

Ben Hogan, a little thick around the middle and with thinning hair but still hawk-eyed and purposeful of stride, was no more than a lesser member of the cast today as the elite field played the first round of the 47th Professional Golfers' Association Championship at Laurel Valley.

The stars of the production are the younger set, glamorized by the television age: heavily favored Jack Nicklaus, power-hitting Masters champion on a torrid triumphant streak; South Africa's Gary Player, U.S. Open champion with the dramatic touch; Bobby Nichols, handsome defender of the PGA crown; Arnold Palmer, overwhelming popular choice on his home grounds; carefree Tony Lema, and smooth-stroking Billy Casper.

"I'm a part-time player now, from March to August," Hogan, who'll be 53 Friday, said after his wind-up practice round Wednesday. "And this is only my fourth competition this year. I made the Masters, the Colonial at home in Fort Worth and Philadelphia last week."

The small, muscular-armed Texan, winner of two PGAs and every other major title in golf, was pleased with his incoming nine after "a horrible front nine."

"Over-all I haven't been playing well. And this is a tough course for me. It favors the long hitters," the precisionist commented, then added ruefully, "but I never saw one that didn't."

And the long-ball is Nicklaus' forte. The Ohio Strongboy has won $44,300 with victories in the Thunderbird and Philadelphia Classics the past two weeks for 1965 earnings of $114,000 and has been impressive over Laurel Valley's 7,090-yard, par 71 layout. His tee shots and long irons — always outstanding — have been even more so, and his short game is on target.

Nichols, also a slugger and also going well, should be primed for a big effort.

Player, Lema and Casper are others in winning form. Not so Palmer, Laurel Valley's home pro and an idolized native of these western Pennsylvania highlands. He's slipped from golf's suppermost echelon — but he seems keyed up for this vital test.

Laurel Valley's hilly course, par 36 out and 35 in, is drying out in the warm weather after a week of rain.

Twenty former PGA champions, including three-time winner Sam Snead in addition to Hogan, Nicklaus, Player and Nichols, are in the field of 167.

After Friday's second round the field will be chopped to the low 70 and ties for the concluding 18-holes Saturday and Sunday.

The finishing holes on the final two days will be televised (ABC).

Pony Stars Bounce Back For 6-2 Win

★ ★ ★ To Face North Pittsburgh Tonight ★ ★ ★

FREEPORT, Pa. — East Liverpool's Pony League entry bounced back into contention here Wednesday night with a 6-2 victory which eliminated Mon Valley from the Regional Tournament running.

The tourney continues tonight with one game as East Liverpool will face North Pittsburgh which lost to Allegheny-Kiski Wednesday night. Tonight's game will get under way at 8 p. m.

The Allegheny-Kiski nine remains as the only undefeated team with two victories while the loser of the East Liverpool-North Pittsburgh game tonight faces elimination. If East Liverpool wins tonight, the local entry would need two victories over Allegheny Kiski to take the Regional crown.

Bill Montgomery twirled a neat five-hitter and fanned 10 batters along the way in pitching East Liverpool to its first Regional tournament win. It was the third tournament victory for Montgomery.

His teammates backed him up with a seven-hit attack and flawless fielding as East Liverpool scored three runs in the fourth inning, added two in the fifth and one in the sixth frame.

Mon Valley chalked up single runs in the fourth and sixth innings.

East Liverpool's big three run fourth inning was touched off by an error when the pitcher attempted to pick a runner off first base and overthrew the first baseman allowing two runs to score.

Paul Berhar and Danny Myers paced the locals at the plate with a double and single each while leadoff man Dan Cunningham came up with a two base hit.

Montgomery's control was good as he only allowed two walks and scattered five singles. Pacini was the losing hurler and gave up three free passes.

Central Evens Playoff On Hall's One Hitter

Jeff Hall and his Central Service teammates evened the Colt League playoff series as Hall hurled a one hitter for a 3-0 victory over the Lawyers Wednesday.

With the series even at one each, the winner of today's game will open a best three out of five series Sunday meeting Riverview in a doubleheader with the first game at 1:30 p.m.

Hall fanned 11 batters and didn't issue a pass as he gave up a single to Bob Morehead.

Central posted two runs in the first inning and one in the fifth off loser Carl Natalina who was touched for seven hits.

Emery Brewer supplied the big punch for Central with a triple and double while Hall helped his own cause with two singles.

Attendance At NL Games At Its Best

CINCINNATI (AP) — Attendance at National League baseball games is better than ever, says Dave Grote, the league's service director.

"As the season moved into August, the National League was running almost 650,000 ahead of its record pace of last year for a corresponding number of dates," Grote said today.

Grote, in an attempt to silence claims that "baseball attendance is declining," or "baseball attendance may be up, but the increase has not kept pace with the population boom," issued a comparison of NL attendance with the population growth.

Grote said the baseball attendance increase since 1920 is 142 per cent, while the increase in population is 69 per cent.

Grote said the estimated attendance of 108 million for the current decade "is conservative."

New ball parks have accounted for some of the increase, Grote said.

The NL reached an all-time high in 1962 with 11,360,159 paid admissions, eclipsed that record with 11,382,227 in 1963 and went over the 12 million mark in 1964.

"With prospects of another down to the wire pennant race, it's a veritable cinch that the Senior Circuit will establish a record attendance for the fourth consecutive year," Grote said.

Unlike other sports, baseball includes only the paid admissions in its attendance figures.

In its last year as an eight-club league in 1961, the NL drew 8,731,502. The 1964 total, with 10 clubs, was 12,045,190.

The two new clubs, the New York Mets and Houston Astros, drew a total of 2,458,370 in 1964, while the eight old clubs showed an increase of 855,318.

Pike Returns As Lisbon's Cage Mentor

LISBON — Gary Pike has returned as head basketball coach at Lisbon High School succeeding Tony Buttar who had been hired for the post but resigned to accept a position at Warren, Ohio.

Pike was head coach for five seasons, resigning after the 1964-65 campaign but continued as an assistant in football.

His 1962-63 team tied for the Tri-County title and his 1964-65 team finished in second place.

The Board of Education approved the rehiring of Pike Tuesday.

Thayer Sparks Merchants To 9-4 Playoff Win

Jack Thayer pounded out three doubles and a single to lead the Chester Merchants in a 9-4 victory over Hancock Savings which went nine innings Wednesday in the Chester Softball League playoffs.

Don Poole was the winning pitcher with Sonny Thompson charged with the loss.

Hancock Savings came back with four runs in the sixth inning to tie the game and send it into extra frames.

Scafide's plays the Merchants tonight at 8:30.

Esquire Barbers Top Midland Hotel, 6-4

Esquire Barbers continued their winning streak with a 6-4 victory over the Midland Hotel.

Frank (Bomber) Bowersock tripled and singled and Art Bosworth homered for Esquire.

Esquire and Harmony Bar play at 6:30 tonight at Thompson Park.

Drysdale Is Hard Pressed To Nip Mets; Braves Win

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Playing against the New York Mets apparently can be as dangerous as playing for them.

The Mets began to rub off on the Los Angeles Dodgers in the eighth inning Wednesday night and Don Drysdale had to survive three errors and an I'll-take-it-you-get-it routine before subduing New York 1-0 for his first victory in 24 days.

Drysdale was working on a four-hitter and protecting a 1-0 lead for the National League leaders when the Dodgers started to fall into the Mets' pattern.

John Stephenson led off the Mets' eighth with a grounder to first base but Wes Parker fumbled the ball for an error. Chuck Hiller, however, came through in Met style, bunting into a double play. But it was only seconds before Drysdale was in trouble again.

This time, Ron Swoboda grounded one to second base but Jim Lefebvre let the ball roll through his legs for an error. Right fielder Ron Fairly, backing up on the play, raced in — and also fumbled the ball as Swoboda took second.

Drysdale got out of that revolving door by retiring Johnny Lewis on a pop fly but the fireballing Dodger right-hander went in for another go-round at the start of the ninth when outfielders Lou Johnson and Willie Davis played Ed Kranepool's pop up into a single.

Charlie Smith played Hiller's role this time, grounding into a forceplay and Drysdale then got Gary Kolb on an easy fly to end it.

The victory was Drysdale's first in his last six starts, lifted his record to 16-10 and increased the Dodgers' first-place edge to 1½ games over the second-place San Francisco Giants, who were rained out of their game against Pittsburgh.

Milwaukee remained three games back by riding Hank' Aaron's 24th and 25th homers to a 5-2 victory over St. Louis. Cincinnati fell three behind after a 7-2 loss to the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia stayed six games off the pace with a 5-1 triumph over Houston.

Drysdale was locked in a scoreless duel with Larry Miller for five innings but Gordon Richardson came on to put down a Los Angeles threat in the sixth and was touched for the game's only run in the seventh when Maury Wills singled, took second on a passed ball by Chris Cannizzaro and scored on a single by Jim Gilliam.

The Braves jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the third inning on homers by Felipe Alou and Aaron, then broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth when pitcher Ken Johnson and Mack Jones singled before Aaron hit his second homer. Bob Skinner's homer had pulled the Cardinals into a tie against Johnson, who won his 10th game since joining Milwaukee for an over-all 13-6 record.

The Cubs put it away against Jim O'Toole, who now is 1-9, in the fourth inning when Leo Cardenas let a grounder by Harvey Kuenn slip through his legs for a two-run error and Ron Santo singled home two more runs. Larry Jackson, tagged for a pair of solo homers by Frank Robinson, got the victory for an 11-14 record.

Ray Culp went the distance for the Phillies, scattering eight hits and bringing his record to 8-8. Culp got the only runs he needed in the first inning when the Phillies struck for a pair against Danny Coombs on John Callison's single, a double by Richie Allen and Alex Johnson's single.

Pizarro Returns To Form With One-Hit Effort

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Al Lopez may have solved the enigma of Juan Pizarro's on-again, off-again fast ball but the Washington Senators don't have a clue.

Pizarro, mystery man of Lopez' Chicago White Sox pitching staff, baffled the Senators with a one-hitter Wednesday night as the Sox won the second game of a doubleheader 7-0.

The Puerto Rican southpaw, a 19-game winner in 1964, had failed to finish in nine previous starts and had won only one game — exactly two months ago against Washington — before his one-hitter.

Pizarro's ineffectiveness mystified Manager Lopez until it was traced to a torn tricep tendon in his left shoulder late in June. He went on the disabled list for 30 days and the rest apparently has worked wonders.

Pizzaro's fast ball was humming against the Senators. Woodie Held, who had paced Washington to a 5-2 first-game victory, got the only nightcap hit — a lead-off single in the fifth inning. The only other Senators to reach base were Don Lock and Don Zimmer, on walks in the first and eighth, respectively.

It was the third American League one-hitter among 13 pitched in the majors this season and all three have been against the Senators. Held got the only hit off Cleveland's Luis Tiant June 16 and Lock deprived Detroit's Dennis McLain of a five-inning no-hitter in a rain-abbreviated game July 3.

Elsewhere in the AL, the New York Yankees snapped first-place Minnesota's winning streak at six by edging the Twins 5-4; Detroit swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 6-2 and 5-4 in 10 innings; Cleveland blanked Los Angeles 6-0 on Tiant's three-hitter and Boston whipped Baltimore 8-3.

Held rapped a single and two doubles, driving in two runs, and Willie Kirkland homered as the Senators took the opener behind left-hander Pete Richert.

The Yankees rallied for five runs in the fifth inning, two on Bobby Richardson's single, to erase a 3-0 Minnesota lead. Mel Stottlemyre picked up his 14th victory, tying losing pitcher Jim Grant for the league lead.

Dick McAuliffe's grand slam homer backed Joe Sparma's pitching in the Tigers' first-game victory and Don Wert broke up the nightcap with a run-scoring single in the 10th after relief pitcher Jack Aker had hit two straight batters.

Max Alvis stroked three hits for Cleveland, including a three-run homer that snapped a scoreless tie in the sixth. Tiant struck out seven and scattered three singles for his 10th victory in 15 decisions.

The Red Sox took a 4-3 lead over Baltimore on Rico Petrocelli's three-run homer in the fourth, then nicked reliever Stu Miller for four runs in the seventh on six consecutive hits, including two safe bunts and Jim Gosger's two-run bloop single.

Collier Sees Sounder 49er Team In '65

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—Don't be surprised if the San Francisco 49ers seem like a much sounder team when they play the Cleveland Browns in a preseason football game Sunday on the West Coast.

Blanton Collier, Browns' head coach, concluded this Wednesday night after watching movies of the 49ers intrasquad scrimmage.

Said Collier:

"In addition to an improved running game, I think the San Francisco quarterbacks will be better. Y. A. Tittle is coaching them now. He has the know-how and I'm sure they'll listen to him."

San Francisco strengthened its ground game by acquiring veteran John David Crow in an off-season trade from the St. Louis Cardinals. Crow is a 215-pound halfback and a member of the National Football League coveted 1,000-yard club.

Two Ohioans are starters for the 49ers. Bernie Casey of Bowling Green is considered one of the club's most dangerous deep pass receivers. Walter Rock of Elyria, who starred at Maryland, is a 6 - foot - 5, 250-pound tackle.

The Browns will fly to San Francisco Friday morning.

The stars of the production are the younger set, glamorized by the television age: heavily favored Jack Nicklaus, power-hitting Masters champion on a torrid triumphant streak; South Africa's Gary Player, U.S. Open champion with the dramatic touch; Bobby Nichols, handsome defender of the PGA crown; Arnold Palmer, overwhelming popular choice on his home grounds; carefree Tony Lema, and smooth-stroking Billy Casper.

"I'm a part-time player now, from March to August," Hogan, who'll be 53 Friday, said after his wind-up practice round Wednesday. "And this is only my fourth competition this year. I made the Masters, the Colonial at home in Fort Worth and Philadelphia last week."

The small, muscular-armed Texan, winner of two PGAs and every other major title in golf, was pleased with his incoming nine after "a horrible front nine."

"Over-all I haven't been playing well. And this is a tough course for me. It favors the long hitters," the precisionist commented, then added ruefully, "but I never saw one that didn't."

And the long-ball is Nicklaus' forte. The Ohio Strongboy has won $44,300 with victories in the Thunderbird and Philadelphia Classics the past two weeks for 1965 earnings of $114,000 and has been impressive over Laurel Valley's 7,090-yard, par 71 layout. His tee shots and long irons — always outstanding — have been even more so, and his short game is on target.

Nichols, also a slugger and also going well, should be primed for a big effort.

Player, Lema and Casper are others in winning form. Not so Palmer, Laurel Valley's home pro and an idolized native of these western Pennsylvania highlands. He's slipped from golf's suppermost echelon — but he seems keyed up for this vital test.

Laurel Valley's hilly course, par 36 out and 35 in, is drying out in the warm weather after a week of rain.

Twenty former PGA champions, including three-time winner Sam Snead in addition to Hogan, Nicklaus, Player and Nichols, are in the field of 167.

After Friday's second round the field will be chopped to the low 70 and ties for the concluding 18-holes Saturday and Sunday.

The finishing holes on the final two days will be televised (ABC).

Pony Stars Bounce Back For 6-2 Win

★ ★ ★ To Face North Pittsburgh Tonight ★ ★ ★

FREEPORT, Pa. — East Liverpool's Pony League entry bounced back into contention here Wednesday night with a 6-2 victory which eliminated Mon Valley from the Regional Tournament running.

The tourney continues tonight with one game as East Liverpool will face North Pittsburgh which lost to Allegheny-Kiski Wednesday night. Tonight's game will get under way at 8 p. m.

The Allegheny-Kiski nine remains as the only undefeated team with two victories while the loser of the East Liverpool-North Pittsburgh game tonight faces elimination. If East Liverpool wins tonight, the local entry would need two victories over Allegheny Kiski to take the Regional crown.

Bill Montgomery twirled a neat five-hitter and fanned 10 batters along the way in pitching East Liverpool to its first Regional tournament win. It was the third tournament victory for Montgomery.

His teammates backed him up with a seven-hit attack and flawless fielding as East Liverpool scored three runs in the fourth inning, added two in the fifth and one in the sixth frame.

Mon Valley chalked up single runs in the fourth and sixth innings.

East Liverpool's big three run fourth inning was touched off by an error when the pitcher attempted to pick a runner off first base and overthrew the first baseman allowing two runs to score.

Paul Berhar and Danny Myers paced the locals at the plate with a double and single each while leadoff man Dan Cunningham came up with a two base hit.

Montgomery's control was good as he only allowed two walks and scattered five singles. Pacini was the losing hurler and gave up three free passes.

Pizarro Returns To Form With One-Hit Effort

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Al Lopez may have solved the enigma of Juan Pizarro's on-again, off-again fast ball but the Washington Senators don't have a clue.

Pizarro, mystery man of Lopez' Chicago White Sox pitching staff, baffled the Senators with a one-hitter Wednesday night as the Sox won the second game of a doubleheader 7-0.

The Puerto Rican southpaw, a 19-game winner in 1964, had failed to finish in nine previous starts and had won only one game — exactly two months ago against Washington — before his one-hitter.

Pizarro's ineffectiveness mystified Manager Lopez until it was traced to a torn tricep tendon in his left shoulder late in June. He went on the disabled list for 30 days and the rest apparently has worked wonders.

Pizzaro's fast ball was humming against the Senators. Woodie Held, who had paced Washington to a 5-2 first-game victory, got the only nightcap hit — a lead-off single in the fifth inning. The only other Senators to reach base were Don Lock and Don Zimmer, on walks in the first and eighth, respectively.

It was the third American League one-hitter among 13 pitched in the majors this season and all three have been against the Senators. Held got the only hit off Cleveland's Luis Tiant June 16 and Lock deprived Detroit's Dennis McLain of a five-inning no-hitter in a rain-abbreviated game July 3.

Elsewhere in the AL, the New York Yankees snapped first-place Minnesota's winning streak at six by edging the Twins 5-4; Detroit swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 6-2 and 5-4 in 10 innings; Cleveland blanked Los Angeles 6-0 on Tiant's three-hitter and Boston whipped Baltimore 8-3.

Held rapped a single and two doubles, driving in two runs, and Willie Kirkland homered as the Senators took the opener behind left-hander Pete Richert.

The Yankees rallied for five runs in the fifth inning, two on Bobby Richardson's single, to erase a 3-0 Minnesota lead. Mel Stottlemyre picked up his 14th victory, tying losing pitcher Jim Grant for the league lead.

Dick McAuliffe's grand slam homer backed Joe Sparma's pitching in the Tigers' first-game victory and Don Wert broke up the nightcap with a run-scoring single in the 10th after relief pitcher Jack Aker had hit two straight batters.

Max Alvis stroked three hits for Cleveland, including a three-run homer that snapped a scoreless tie in the sixth. Tiant struck out seven and scattered three singles for his 10th victory in 15 decisions.

The Red Sox took a 4-3 lead over Baltimore on Rico Petrocelli's three-run homer in the fourth, then nicked reliever Stu Miller for four runs in the seventh on six consecutive hits, including two safe bunts and Jim Gosger's two-run bloop single.

Collier Sees Sounder 49er Team In '65

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—Don't be surprised if the San Francisco 49ers seem like a much sounder team when they play the Cleveland Browns in a preseason football game Sunday on the West Coast.

Blanton Collier, Browns' head coach, concluded this Wednesday night after watching movies of the 49ers intrasquad scrimmage.

Said Collier:

"In addition to an improved running game, I think the San Francisco quarterbacks will be better. Y. A. Tittle is coaching them now. He has the know-how and I'm sure they'll listen to him."

San Francisco strengthened its ground game by acquiring veteran John David Crow in an off-season trade from the St. Louis Cardinals. Crow is a 215-pound halfback and a member of the National Football League coveted 1,000-yard club.

Two Ohioans are starters for the 49ers. Bernie Casey of Bowling Green is considered one of the club's most dangerous deep pass receivers. Walter Rock of Elyria, who starred at Maryland, is a 6 - foot - 5, 250-pound tackle.

The Browns will fly to San Francisco Friday morning.

Central Evens Playoff On Hall's One Hitter

Jeff Hall and his Central Service teammates evened the Colt League playoff series as Hall hurled a one hitter for a 3-0 victory over the Lawyers Wednesday.

With the series even at one each, the winner of today's game will open a best three out of five series Sunday meeting Riverview in a doubleheader with the first game at 1:30 p.m.

Hall fanned 11 batters and didn't issue a pass as he gave up a single to Bob Morehead.

Central posted two runs in the first inning and one in the fifth off loser Carl Natalina who was touched for seven hits.

Attendance At NL Games At Its Best

CINCINNATI (AP) — Attendance at National League baseball games is better than ever, says Dave Grote, the league's service director.

"As the season moved into August, the National League was running almost 650,000 ahead of its record pace of last year for a corresponding number of dates," Grote said today.

Grote, in an attempt to silence claims that "baseball attendance is declining," or "baseball attendance may be up, but the increase has not kept pace with the population boom," issued a comparison of NL attendance with the population growth.

Grote said the baseball attendance increase since 1920 is 142 per cent, while the increase in population is 69 per cent.

Grote said the estimated attendance of 108 million for the current decade "is conservative."

New ball parks have accounted for some of the increase, Grote said.

The NL reached an all-time high in 1962 with 11,360,159 paid admissions, eclipsed that record with 11,382,227 in 1963 and went over the 12 million mark in 1964.

"With prospects of another down to the wire pennant race, it's a veritable cinch that the Senior Circuit will establish a record attendance for the fourth consecutive year," Grote said.

Unlike other sports, baseball includes only the paid admissions in its attendance figures.

In its last year as an eight-club league in 1961, the NL drew 8,731,502. The 1964 total, with 10 clubs, was 12,045,190.

The two new clubs, the New York Mets and Houston Astros, drew a total of 2,458,370 in 1964, while the eight old clubs showed an increase of 855,318.

Pike Returns As Lisbon's Cage Mentor

LISBON — Gary Pike has returned as head basketball coach at Lisbon High School succeeding Tony Buttar who had been hired for the post but resigned to accept a position at Warren, Ohio.

Pike was head coach for five seasons, resigning after the 1964-65 campaign but continued as an assistant in football.

His 1962-63 team tied for the Tri-County title and his 1964-65 team finished in second place.

The Board of Education approved the rehiring of Pike Tuesday.

Thayer Sparks Merchants To 9-4 Playoff Win

Jack Thayer pounded out three doubles and a single to lead the Chester Merchants in a 9-4 victory over Hancock Savings which went nine innings Wednesday in the Chester Softball League playoffs.

Don Poole was the winning pitcher with Sonny Thompson charged with the loss.

Hancock Savings came back with four runs in the sixth inning to tie the game and send it into extra frames.

Scafide's plays the Merchants tonight at 8:30.

Esquire Barbers Top Midland Hotel, 6-4

Esquire Barbers continued their winning streak with a 6-4 victory over the Midland Hotel.

Frank (Bomber) Bowersock tripled and singled and Art Bosworth homered for Esquire.

Esquire and Harmony Bar play at 6:30 tonight at Thompson Park.

Drysdale Is Hard Pressed To Nip Mets; Braves Win

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Playing against the New York Mets apparently can be as dangerous as playing for them.

The Mets began to rub off on the Los Angeles Dodgers in the eighth inning Wednesday night and Don Drysdale had to survive three errors and an I'll-take-it-you-get-it routine before subduing New York 1-0 for his first victory in 24 days.

Drysdale was working on a four-hitter and protecting a 1-0 lead for the National League leaders when the Dodgers started to fall into the Mets' pattern.

John Stephenson led off the Mets' eighth with a grounder to first base but Wes Parker fumbled the ball for an error. Chuck Hiller, however, came through in Met style, bunting into a double play. But it was only seconds before Drysdale was in trouble again.

This time, Ron Swoboda grounded one to second base but Jim Lefebvre let the ball roll through his legs for an error. Right fielder Ron Fairly, backing up on the play, raced in — and also fumbled the ball as Swoboda took second.

Drysdale got out of that revolving door by retiring Johnny Lewis on a pop fly but the fireballing Dodger right-hander went in for another go-round at the start of the ninth when outfielders Lou Johnson and Willie Davis played Ed Kranepool's pop up into a single.

Charlie Smith played Hiller's role this time, grounding into a fielder's choice play and Drysdale then got Gary Kolb on an easy fly to end it.

The victory was Drysdale's first in his last six starts, lifted his record to 16-10 and increased the Dodgers' first-place edge to 1½ games over the second-place San Francisco Giants, who were rained out of their game against Pittsburgh.

Milwaukee remained three games back by riding Hank' Aaron's 24th and 25th homers to a 5-2 victory over St. Louis. Cincinnati fell three behind after a 7-2 loss to the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia stayed six games off the pace with a 5-1 triumph over Houston.

Drysdale was locked in a scoreless duel with Larry Miller for five innings but Gordon Richardson came on to put down a Los Angeles threat in the sixth and was touched for the game's only run in the seventh when Maury Wills singled, took second on a passed ball by Chris Cannizzaro and scored on a single by Jim Gilliam.

The Braves jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the third inning on homers by Felipe Alou and Aaron, then broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth when pitcher Ken Johnson and Mack Jones singled before Aaron hit his second homer. Bob Skinner's homer had pulled the Cardinals into a tie against Johnson, who won his 10th game since joining Milwaukee for an over-all 13-6 record.

The Cubs put it away against Jim O'Toole, who now is 1-9, in the fourth inning when Leo Cardenas let a grounder by Harvey Kuenn slip through his legs for a two-run error and Ron Santo singled home two more runs. Larry Jackson, tagged for a pair of solo homers by Frank Robinson, got the victory for an 11-14 record.

Ray Culp went the distance for the Phillies, scattering eight hits and bringing his record to 8-8. Culp got the only runs he needed in the first inning when the Phillies struck for a pair against Danny Coombs on John Callison's single, a double by Richie Allen and Alex Johnson's single.

Two Veteran Champions Favored In AAU Diving

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Two veteran diving champions were favored to add to their victory strings as the National AAU swimming and Diving Championships entered the second round today.

Both, however, were faced with determined challenges by eager young prospects.

Mrs. Joel O'Connell, a 22-year-old platinum blonde from the Santa Clara (Calif.) Swim Club, who is coached by her husband, won her seventh AAU title in the women's diving Wednesday by taking the one-meter competition.

Bernie Wrightson, also 22, gained his third championship with a solid first in the men's three-meter event.

Today's schedule has the diving reversed, with the women competing in the three-meter while the men go in the low board. The card also lists the first swim event of the five-day meet as the women run off their 1,500-meter freestyle race.

Mrs. O'Connell, who barely missed an Olympic berth in 1960 and 1964, must contend with Micki King, a 19-year-old student at the University of Michigan who is looking for her first championship.

Micki rallied from fourth to second in Wednesday's finals competition and only a magnificent back 1½ on the last dive preserved the victory for the Californian.

Mrs. O'Connell finished with 450.95 points while Micki was second with 436.70 and two-time Olympian Patsy Willard was third with 436.30.

Wrightson, a senior this fall at Arizona State University, must fight back the effort of his own AAU teammate Keith Russell, a 17-year-old high school junior.

Russell never really threatened his older rival Wednesday but did perform the big feat of beating Olympic and NCAA champion Ken Stizberger.

Bernie had a total of 550.65 points for first while Russell was 533.65 and Sitzberger was 532.75 for third place.

Yanks Won't Win Pennant But Stottlemyre Eyes 20

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees are not going to win any pennants this year but they could wind up with the American League's only 20-game winner.

No one has a better chance than Mel Stottlemyre, who registered his 14th triumph of the season Wednesday night when he pitched the Yankees to a 5-4 victory over the league-leading Minnesota Twins.

It was a memorable victory for Stottlemyre for the slim right-hander was celebrating a sort of anniversary.

It was exactly one year ago — Aug. 11, 1964 that the 23-year-old from Mabton, Wash., joined the Yankees from Richmond of the International League. He made his first big league start the next afternoon and defeated the Chicago White Sox.

In the fiscal year that followed, Stottlemyre went on to win 23 games while losing nine, by far the best record of any pitcher in the league. The pitchers closest to Stottlemyre in total victories during the period are teammate Whitey Ford and Mickey LoLich of Detroit. Each has won 18 during that span.

For a time, it didn't appear that Stottlemyre would have much to celebrate about. The Twins, riding on a six-game winning streak, hopped on him for three runs in the first inning. An error by first baseman Ray Barker made all the runs unearned.

The lead stood up until the fifth when the Yankees ganged up on Jim (Mudcat) Grant for five runs on six hits.

Longden Needs Four Wins To Reach 6,000

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Jockey Johnny Longden still needs four victories before he can claim to be the only jockey ever to win 6,000 races.

The 58-year-old rider missed the chance to ride his 5,997th winner when he came in third in the only race he entered at Exhibition Park Wednesday night.

Longden arrived here early this week from his home near Riverside, Calif., to pursue his 6,000th win.

Charges Heard Some Coaches Violate Rules

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Charges that some football and basketball coaches have been violating Ohio High School Athletic Association rules were heard at an association board meeting here Wednesday. A board spokesman said no decision was reached.

The charges were leveled last month by Bill Byerly, former athletic director at Lima Shawnee High School. It was not disclosed whether he named either specific coaches or rules at Wednesday's meeting.

AUGSBURG, Germany (AP) —The United States track and field team held a 63-42 lead over West Germany today in the two-day meet between competitors from the two countries.

Don Shy, 19-year-old decathlon competitor from Pomona, Calif., was a surprise leader after the first five events in his field Wednesday.

Impressive victories were scored by Tom Farrell of Forest Hills, N.Y., in the 800 meters; Geogre Anderson of Baton Rouge, La., in the 100-meter dash; Ralph Boston of Nashville, Tenn., in the broad jump, and the U.S. 400-meter relay team.

Namath May Receive $78 Salary From Uncle Sam

NEW YORK (AP) — Will Joe Namath be barking "Hut, Hut" as a $400,000 quarterback awaiting the snap from center or marching to that cadence as a $78-a-month member of Uncle Sam's team?

That became a pressing question when Namath, locked in a three-way battle with holdover Mike Taliaferro and Heisman Trophy winner John Huarte for the No. 1 quarterbacking position on the New York Jets, revealed Wednesday that he might be drafted into military service in the near future.

The 22-year-old former Alabama standout was scheduled to take his physical examination Tuesday at his home draft board in Beaver Falls, Pa., but his papers were transferred to Peekskill, N.Y., where the American Football League club is training.

According to a spokesman for the Jets, Namath now is scheduled for a pre-induction examination on or about Sept. 1. Induction would likely be imminent if he passed the physical.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for Peekskill's draft board No. 12 said Namath would go on a waiting list and that it was "doubtful" he would be called for an examination in September or even October. By then Namath will be a resident of New York City and another shift will have to be made.

Also there is some question whether Namath's celebrated right knee, on which he underwent an operation last January, will pass the military test as well as it has the football tests in two pre-season games.

"It's up to the doctors now," said Namath, "and I haven't any idea of what to expect."

Athletes Will Sound Off Over AAU-NCAA Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Young athletic stars caught in the squeeze between the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) and the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) speak their minds in a Senate investigation starting Monday.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., whose Senate Commerce Committee will conduct the two weeks probe, put some steel behind the velvet in a statement declaring the objective to find some peaceful settlement of the row over control of U.S. amateur athletics.

"It will be our task to see that athletes may freely compete without fear of sanction or retaliation," he said.

Magnuson's statement didn't mention this, but Congress could, if it chose, provide for the federal chartering of a new group to bestow the needed sanctions for domestic amateur athletic events, including those which lead to the selection of U.S. Olympic teams.

Many on the sidelines believe the White House has given its blessing to the probe, concerned lest the fight endanger the selection of the strongest team to represent the United States in Olympic competition.

The late President John F. Kennedy assigned Gen. Douglas MacArthur in 1963 to arbitrate an agreement between the NCAA and AAU, but the resultant peace proved unenduring.

Two Veteran Champions Favored In AAU Diving

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Two veteran diving champions were favored to add to their victory strings as the National AAU swimming and Diving Championships entered the second round today.

Both, however, were faced with determined challenges by eager young prospects.

Mrs. Joel O'Connell, a 22-year-old platinum blonde from the Santa Clara (Calif.) Swim Club, who is coached by her husband, won her seventh AAU title in the women's diving Wednesday by taking the one-meter competition.

Bernie Wrightson, also 22, gained his third championship with a solid first in the men's three-meter event.

Today's schedule has the diving reversed, with the women competing in the three-meter while the men go in the low board. The card also lists the first swim event of the five-day meet as the women run off their 1,500-meter freestyle race.

Mrs. O'Connell, who barely missed an Olympic berth in 1960 and 1964, must contend with Micki King, a 19-year-old student at the University of Michigan who is looking for her first championship.

Micki rallied from fourth to second in Wednesday's finals competition and only a magnificent back 1½ on the last dive preserved the victory for the Californian.

Mrs. O'Connell finished with 450.95 points while Micki was second with 436.70 and two-time Olympian Patsy Willard was third with 436.30.

Wrightson, a senior this fall at Arizona State University, must fight back the effort of his own AAU teammate Keith Russell, a 17-year-old high school junior.

Russell never really threatened his older rival Wednesday but did perform the big feat of beating Olympic and NCAA champion Ken Stizberger.

Bernie had a total of 550.65 points for first while Russell was 533.65 and Sitzberger was 532.75 for third place.

Yanks Won't Win Pennant But Stottlemyre Eyes 20

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees are not going to win any pennants this year but they could wind up with the American League's only 20-game winner.

No one has a better chance than Mel Stottlemyre, who registered his 14th triumph of the season Wednesday night when he pitched the Yankees to a 5-4 victory over the league-leading Minnesota Twins.

It was a memorable victory for Stottlemyre for the slim right-hander was celebrating a sort of anniversary.

It was exactly one year ago — Aug. 11, 1964 that the 23-year-old from Mabton, Wash., joined the Yankees from Richmond of the International League. He made his first big league start the next afternoon and defeated the Chicago White Sox.

In the fiscal year that followed, Stottlemyre went on to win 23 games while losing nine, by far the best record of any pitcher in the league. The pitchers closest to Stottlemyre in total victories during the period are teammate Whitey Ford and Mickey LoLich of Detroit. Each has won 18 during that span.

For a time, it didn't appear that Stottlemyre would have much to celebrate about. The Twins, riding on a six-game winning streak, hopped on him for three runs in the first inning. An error by first baseman Ray Barker made all the runs unearned.

The lead stood up until the fifth when the Yankees ganged up on Jim (Mudcat) Grant for five runs on six hits.

Longden Needs Four Wins To Reach 6,000

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Jockey Johnny Longden still needs four victories before he can claim to be the only jockey ever to win 6,000 races.

The 58-year-old rider missed the chance to ride his 5,997th winner when he came in third in the only race he entered at Exhibition Park Wednesday night.

Longden arrived here early this week from his home near Riverside, Calif., to pursue his 6,000th win.

Namath May Receive $78 Salary From Uncle Sam

NEW YORK (AP) — Will Joe Namath be barking "Hut, Hut" as a $400,000 quarterback awaiting the snap from center or marching to that cadence as a $78-a-month member of Uncle Sam's team?

That became a pressing question when Namath, locked in a three-way battle with holdover Mike Taliaferro and Heisman Trophy winner John Huarte for the No. 1 quarterbacking position on the New York Jets, revealed Wednesday that he might be drafted into military service in the near future.

The 22-year-old former Alabama standout was scheduled to take his physical examination Tuesday at his home draft board in Beaver Falls, Pa., but his papers were transferred to Peekskill, N.Y., where the American Football League club is training.

According to a spokesman for the Jets, Namath now is scheduled for a pre-induction examination on or about Sept. 1. Induction would likely be imminent if he passed the physical.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for Peekskill's draft board No. 12 said Namath would go on a waiting list and that it was "doubtful" he would be called for an examination in September or even October. By then Namath will be a resident of New York City and another shift will have to be made.

Also there is some question whether Namath's celebrated right knee, on which he underwent an operation last January, will pass the military test as well as it has the football tests in two pre-season games.

"It's up to the doctors now," said Namath, "and I haven't any idea of what to expect."

Ohio State Has Landed 9 Of North-South Team

By HAL PARIS

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State has landed nine of the 50 All-Stars who will battle here Friday in the 20th annual North-South High School Football Game.

A check of the Yankee and Rebel rosters shows seven scholastic stars headed for Miami (Ohio); four others bound for Notre Dame and three enrolled at Ohio University and Kent State.

Future Buckeyes on the North squad are ends Steve Fejes of Oregon Clay and Bill DeRoss of Akron South; tackle Rufus Mayes of Toledo Macomber; center John Muhlbach of Massillon and back Ed Bender of Akron Garfield.

Four gridders on the South who will play for Woody Hayes are tackle Dave Foley of Cincinnati Roger Bacon; guard John Ford of Springfield South; back Jay Bomback of Dayton Fairview and quarterback Bill Long of Dayton Stebbins.

Miami has enrolled guard Bob Babich of Campbell Memorial and back Allan Campbell of Elyria from the North and tackle Ken Kempf, Coshocton; center Dick Christie, Upper Arlington; back Bob Glover, Gahanna Lincoln; and quarterbacks Verbie Walder, Dayton Roth and Ron Core, Lima Shawnee, from the South.

Bound for Notre Dame are Mike Holtzapfel, a Rebel back from Ironton and end Brian Stenger, Lakewood St. Joseph; halfback Bob Gladieux, Louisville and quarterback Bob Belden, Canton Central Catholic, all from the Yankee team.

Tackle Mark Kujala of Warren Harding and fullback Bob Houmard of Orrville, from the North, and back Mike Christian of Lancaster, from the South, are heading for Ohio University.

Kent State has nailed three Yankees—guard Larry Larsuel, Massillon, quarterback George Infante, Niles McKinley and back Joe Pledger of Cleveland East.

Barberton guard Paul Walker and Dave Hutchens, a back from Mansfield Senior, both Northerners, plan to attend Cincinnati.

Other players, and their college destinations, include:

Back Buster Yannon, Steubenville Central Catholic, Nebraska; Len Rush, tackle from Hamilton Garfield, Kentucky.

Guard Dennis Keyes, Fremont Ross, Wooster; back Pete Kalogeros, Canton McKinley, Illinois; center Pete Brookhart, Newark, Muskingum; end Ron Hamilton, Middletown, Morehead, Ky.; back George Hummel, Logan, Marshall; Tom Rice, guard, Lima Senior, Brigham Young.

Athletes Will Sound Off Over AAU-NCAA Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Young athletic stars caught in the squeeze between the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) and the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) speak their minds in a Senate investigation starting Monday.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., whose Senate Commerce Committee will conduct the two weeks probe, put some steel behind the velvet in a statement declaring the objective to find some peaceful settlement of the row over control of U.S. amateur athletics.

"It will be our task to see that athletes may freely compete without fear of sanction or retaliation," he said.

Magnuson's statement didn't mention this, but Congress could, if it chose, provide for the federal chartering of a new group to bestow the needed sanctions for domestic amateur athletic events, including those which lead to the selection of U.S. Olympic teams.

Many on the sidelines believe the White House has given its blessing to the probe, concerned lest the fight endanger the selection of the strongest team to represent the United States in Olympic competition.

The late President John F. Kennedy assigned Gen. Douglas MacArthur in 1963 to arbitrate an agreement between the NCAA and AAU, but the resultant peace proved unenduring.

Pinch Looms For TV Residuals

The economics of the billion-dollar television broadcasting business may be in for a severe upheaval.

Richard Doan

It would be triggered by a drying up of the now-vital market for what the trade calls off-network programs, which are canceled network series put into syndication to local stations. Typically, profits in TV program production come from this after-network syndication. A studio or independent producer usually does well to get his investment back if a series has only a 13-to-26-week network run.

The gravy is in reruns. The real profits are in syndicating a show that has run three or more years on a network.

WPIX, owned by the New York Daily News, has been the nation's biggest buyer of off-network shows — "bar none," as station president Fred M. Thrower puts it.

For a decade, WPIX has advertised itself as "the station with the network look." Its nighttime hours have been loaded with reruns of recently departed network shows.

At one point the station bought reruns rights to as many as 17 network castoffs. It was profitable programming.

-:-

BUT THROWER has become increasingly disenchanted with this approach.

"The networks are killing the goose that laid the golden eggs in residuals," he said. "They're staying with series too long, milking them dry, until there's no life left in them.

"The business would be healthier if the practice was to make about 39 episodes of a show and let it go into syndication after that. Now there are sometimes 250 episodes offered when a series reaches syndication and it represents a tremendous bundle of money.

"Besides, the show is older than Methuselah by that time and there's very little juice left in it."

HE MENTIONED "Gunsmoke" as a long-running series such as he had in mind. The CBS Western probably will go into syndication after next season. It has been running 14 years.

In order to get off the off-network merry-go-round, Thrower in recent months has been replacing old network series with first-run syndicated programming, much of it oriented to young viewers, and movies.

For the coming season the WPIX boss has bought only one off-network series, "Profiles in Courage," and that because of its public service aspect. Not a single entertainment rerun will be introduced this fall.

"WE'RE GOING to have our own look," Thrower said. "We've gone in the direction of seeking as much first-run programming as we can come by. Of 70 halfhours in the week between 7:30 p.m. and 12:30 a.m., 46 will be first run."

Among the evening attractions this fall will be "The Lloyd Thaxton Show," taped in Hollywood and now coming up in color, being put on a five-a-week basis; two "Clay Coles Shows," locally produced, and "Hollywood a-Go-Go," an import, giving WPIX a total of eight hours weekly of what it calls "jazz variety" — better known as rock 'n' roll.

Besides these there is the cross-the-board "Merv Griffin Show" in late evening, David Susskind's "Open End," being trimmed to an hour, and college and Canadian football and an NFL Game of the Week.

-:-

"THE NETWORKS need us," the station executive pointed out. "They've got to have those syndication residuals. But we may not need them much longer."

If such thinking spreads, the networks indeed could be pinched. Also, a lot of stars who live for the day they can retire on rerun income could lose that pot o'gold

-:-

"DOES TELEVISION have an ethnic crush?" asks TV viewer Norman Nash of Far Rockaway, Long Island. "Begorra! Bring back the Goldbergs!"

Nash pointed out that the networks as of this fall will be featuring weekly series titled "Dr. Kildare," "Ben Casey," "Burke's Law" (renamed "Amos Burke, Secret Agent"), "McHale's Navy," "Slattery's People," "Gilligan's Island," "Hogan's Heroes" and "Trials of O'Brien."

Several network program executives, queried as to the popularity of Irish characters, confessed surprise there were so many.

"I guess it's just a popular race," one shrugged.

New Concourse Due At Cleveland Airport

CLEVELAND (AP) — Construction may begin before the end of the year on a 15-gate south concourse at Cleveland Hopkins International Airport. The project, costing $5 million, will be financed by bond money.

City and airline officials decided Wednesday to postpone immediate double-decking of the north concourse at the airport until next year. The price tag for that work is $2 million.

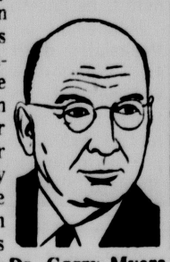
Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Children Sometimes Deny Doing Wrong

In industry or business or ordinary mingling with other adults, you may meet with those who try to avoid admitting their own mistakes but are inclined to place the blame on another person or persons. They may have practiced in these ways since early childhood. I once saw a six-year-old right in the presence of his father, strike a puppy cruelly and then insist he didn't do it.



Dr. Garry Myers

Usually, however, the child, who refuses to accept blame, or blames another person for his own wrong, does so when he is talking to the parent who did not witness the wrong act.

This chronic way may be encouraged when the parent puts the child on trial, questions and cross questions him, a practice which should be avoided. Any child you often suspect of having done something wrong is likely to do the same or similar acts later.

BE MORE viligant thereafter so you can apprehend him in the act and deal with him decisively. If you are sufficiently alert, you might be able to protect him from a temptation you feel sure he is not able to withstand.

I said to myself when I observed that six-year-old boy denying he did what he knew his father saw him do, "I'd paddle him immediately and soundly."

It's important to be decisive in cases of no doubt, when there can be no argument. Indeed, parents who often argue with the child trying to escape a penalty or a decision he doesn't like, encourage him to run away from the consequences of his own acts.

Our eldest son can't seem to accept the fact that he is sometimes wrong," writes one mother from Missouri. She may have had in mind that he argues over some incorrect statement of fact, or an expression of an opinion she does not share.

If it is about a fact which can be checked against a printed source, this source should be consulted. As for opinion, why argue with him about it or be vexed about it?

SOMETIMES the child in his early teens will make statements or express opinions which appear absurd to his parents. The more his statements are challenged, the more he may try to defend them. Just to ignore them may lessen his urge to be so certain.

Benjamin Franklin, in his Autobiography, tells of his discovery that as a teen-ager he was inclined to express ideas with certainty when he should have said, "Perhaps" or "It seemed to me." Then he reported that he was able to improve in this direction and to grow more likable to other persons.

It should be wonderful if every teen-ager would read that portion of Franklin's Autobiography.

Of course, some children who are very opinionated may merely be imitating a parent who is opinionated. They may be imitating a parent when they hesitate to admit to some neglect of responsibility or some wrong they did, even blaming this on some other person.

My bulletins, "Honesty and Truthfulness in Children" and "Educating Child in Responsibility," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

U.S. Military Personnel To Get $80 Million Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — American military personnel will get a total monthly pay increase of about $80 million as early as next month if the House agrees to set aside a pay measure it passed and accept a Senate-passed bill.

The Senate approved its measure Wednesday. Like the House bill, the $1-billion Senate measure contains more than twice as much as President Johnson asked. But sponsors expect the President to sign it.

The raises would go to active and reserve personnel in the Army, Air Force, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Geodetic Survey and Public Health Service.

Chief differences in the versions passed by the two houses were in how the pay raises should apply to commissioned officers, warrant officers and enlisted personnel with more than two years service.

Korean Debate Set On Treaty With Japs

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — President Chung Hee Park's forces plan to open debate Friday in the National Assembly on the treaty normalizing relations with Japan despite the mass resignation of deputies from the opposition Minjung party.

The Minjung party and other critics charge that Park's government made too many concessions to Japan.

'Band Camp' Will Be Held At Wellsville

Wellsville Band Camp will begin Monday at the "Ponderosa" behind Nicholson Stadium, it was announced at this week's meeting of the Band Parents.

A paper drive was conducted Wednesday and was being continued today. Band members are to collect, bundle and take the paper to Heaton's garage at 2026 Clark Ave. Proceeds will be used for a trip to Columbus where the band will play a concert Aug. 27 at 1:15 p. m. at the Ohio State Fair. The band will stay at the Southern hotel and will eat at the Brown Derby restaurant in Canton en route home. Chaperones will be teachers.

John Pangle, band director, has asked that any high school student who can play an instrument contact him.

Pictures for the football and basketball programs will be taken Aug. 25 at 1 p. m. at Nicholson stadium.

A "thank you" note for a wedding gift was received from Joseph Kaba, former band director, and his wife.

The next meeting will be Sept. 13 when a reception will be held for Mr. and Mrs. Pangle.

Sprouse, a graduate of Stanton Local High School, also is receiving training at Lackland.

Upon completion, he will enter administrative technical training.

Says 'Fight Has Just Begun'

Dirksen Introduces New Version On Reapportion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, vowing "the fight has just begun," has introduced a new version of his defeated constitutional amendment on reapportionment of state legislatures.

Like the proposal which fell seven votes short of a two-thirds majority last week, the new amendment by the Illinois senator would reject the Supreme Court ruling that both houses of state legislatures be apportioned according to population only.

Under the proposal, one house could have seats allocated "on the basis of population, geography and political subdivisions (such as counties) in order to insure effective representation in the state's legislature of the various groups and interests making up the electorate."

Changes over the earlier proposal include a provision requiring reapportionment of legislatures every 10 years on the basis of a census, and inclusion of the phrase "to insure effective representation."

Like the earlier plan, the revised amendment requires that no reapportionment proposal can become law until approved by a majority of the voters casting ballots in a statewide election. It also says the plan must first be approved by both legislative branches, including one apportioned according to population.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has announced U.S. recognition of Singapore as a sovereign and independent state. The island republic broke away from Malaysia earlier this week.

"We welcome the new state of Singapore to the community of nations and wish it success in carrying forward its program of economic and social development and its announced policy of cooperation with Malaysia," Robert J. McCloskey, press officer, said at a news conference Wednesday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey reported Wednesday after meeting with mayors of some 100 smaller cities that they are most concerned with roads, water, sewage and shortage of capital.

The meeting was the fourth in a series the vice president has been holding since President Johnson designated him as the administration's liaison with local government.

By RICHARD DOAN

Pinch Looms For TV Residuals

The economics of the billion-dollar television broadcasting business may be in for a severe upheaval.

Richard Doan

It would be triggered by a drying up of the now-vital market for what the trade calls off-network programs, which are canceled network series put into syndication to local stations. Typically, profits in TV program production come from this after-network syndication. A studio or independent producer usually does well to get his investment back if a series has only a 13-to-26-week network run.

The gravy is in reruns. The real profits are in syndicating a show that has run three or more years on a network.

BUT a significant move being made by a leading independent (not network) TV station in New York, if copied widely, might force the networks and Hollywood's film studios to reassess their cost structures.

WPIX, owned by the New York Daily News, has been the nation's biggest buyer of off-network shows — "bar none," as station president Fred M. Thrower puts it.

For a decade, WPIX has advertised itself as "the station with the network look." Its nighttime hours have been loaded with reruns of recently departed network shows.

At one point the station bought reruns rights to as many as 17 network castoffs. It was profitable programming.

-:-

BUT THROWER has become increasingly disenchanted with this approach.

"The networks are killing the goose that laid the golden eggs in residuals," he said. "They're staying with series too long, milking them dry, until there's no life left in them.

"The business would be healthier if the practice was to make about 39 episodes of a show and let it go into syndication after that. Now there are sometimes 250 episodes offered when a series reaches syndication and it represents a tremendous bundle of money.

"Besides, the show is older than Methuselah by that time and there's very little juice left in it."

HE MENTIONED "Gunsmoke" as a long-running series such as he had in mind. The CBS Western probably will go into syndication after next season. It has been running 14 years.

In order to get off the off-network merry-go-round, Thrower in recent months has been replacing old network series with first-run syndicated programming, much of it oriented to young viewers, and movies.

For the coming season the WPIX boss has bought only one off-network series, "Profiles in Courage," and that because of its public service aspect. Not a single entertainment rerun will be introduced this fall.

"WE'RE GOING to have our own look," Thrower said. "We've gone in the direction of seeking as much first-run programming as we can come by. Of 70 halfhours in the week between 7:30 p.m. and 12:30 a.m., 46 will be first run."

Among the evening attractions this fall will be "The Lloyd Thaxton Show," taped in Hollywood and now coming up in color, being put on a five-a-week basis; two "Clay Coles Shows," locally produced, and "Hollywood a-Go-Go," an import, giving WPIX a total of eight hours weekly of what it calls "jazz variety" — better known as rock 'n' roll.

Besides these there is the cross-the-board "Merv Griffin Show" in late evening, David Susskind's "Open End," being trimmed to an hour, and college and Canadian football and an NFL Game of the Week.

-:-

"THE NETWORKS need us," the station executive pointed out. "They've got to have those syndication residuals. But we may not need them much longer."

If such thinking spreads, the networks indeed could be pinched. Also, a lot of stars who live for the day they can retire on rerun income could lose that pot o'gold

-:-

"DOES TELEVISION have an ethnic crush?" asks TV viewer Norman Nash of Far Rockaway, Long Island. "Begorra! Bring back the Goldbergs!"

Nash pointed out that the networks as of this fall will be featuring weekly series titled "Dr. Kildare," "Ben Casey," "Burke's Law" (renamed "Amos Burke, Secret Agent"), "McHale's Navy," "Slattery's People," "Gilligan's Island," "Hogan's Heroes" and "Trials of O'Brien."

Several network program executives, queried as to the popularity of Irish characters, confessed surprise there were so many.

"I guess it's just a popular race," one shrugged.

New Concourse Due At Cleveland Airport

CLEVELAND (AP) — Construction may begin before the end of the year on a 15-gate south concourse at Cleveland Hopkins International Airport. The project, costing $5 million, will be financed by bond money.

City and airline officials decided Wednesday to postpone immediate double-decking of the north concourse at the airport until next year. The price tag for that work is $2 million.

Children Sometimes Deny Doing Wrong

In industry or business or ordinary mingling with other adults, you may meet with those who try to avoid admitting their own mistakes but are inclined to place the blame on another person or persons. They may have practiced in these ways since early childhood. I once saw a six-year-old right in the presence of his father, strike a puppy cruelly and then insist he didn't do it.

Dr. Garry Myers

Usually, however, the child, who refuses to accept blame, or blames another person for his own wrong, does so when he is talking to the parent who did not witness the wrong act.

This chronic way may be encouraged when the parent puts the child on trial, questions and cross questions him, a practice which should be avoided. Any child you often suspect of having done something wrong is likely to do the same or similar acts later.

BE MORE viligant thereafter so you can apprehend him in the act and deal with him decisively. If you are sufficiently alert, you might be able to protect him from a temptation you feel sure he is not able to withstand.

I said to myself when I observed that six-year-old boy denying he did what he knew his father saw him do, "I'd paddle him immediately and soundly."

It's important to be decisive in cases of no doubt, when there can be no argument. Indeed, parents who often argue with the child trying to escape a penalty or a decision he doesn't like, encourage him to run away from the consequences of his own acts.

Our eldest son can't seem to accept the fact that he is sometimes wrong," writes one mother from Missouri. She may have had in mind that he argues over some incorrect statement of fact, or an expression of an opinion she does not share.

If it is about a fact which can be checked against a printed source, this source should be consulted. As for opinion, why argue with him about it or be vexed about it?

SOMETIMES the child in his early teens will make statements or express opinions which appear absurd to his parents. The more his statements are challenged, the more he may try to defend them. Just to ignore them may lessen his urge to be so certain.

Benjamin Franklin, in his Autobiography, tells of his discovery that as a teen-ager he was inclined to express ideas with certainty when he should have said, "Perhaps" or "It seemed to me." Then he reported that he was able to improve in this direction and to grow more likable to other persons.

It should be wonderful if every teen-ager would read that portion of Franklin's Autobiography.

Of course, some children who are very opinionated may merely be imitating a parent who is opinionated. They may be imitating a parent when they hesitate to admit to some neglect of responsibility or some wrong they did, even blaming this on some other person.

My bulletins, "Honesty and Truthfulness in Children" and "Educating Child in Responsibility," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

U.S. Military Personnel To Get $80 Million Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — American military personnel will get a total monthly pay increase of about $80 million as early as next month if the House agrees to set aside a pay measure it passed and accept a Senate-passed bill.

The Senate approved its measure Wednesday. Like the House bill, the $1-billion Senate measure contains more than twice as much as President Johnson asked. But sponsors expect the President to sign it.

The raises would go to active and reserve personnel in the Army, Air Force, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Geodetic Survey and Public Health Service.

Chief differences in the versions passed by the two houses were in how the pay raises should apply to commissioned officers, warrant officers and enlisted personnel with more than two years service.

Korean Debate Set On Treaty With Japs

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — President Chung Hee Park's forces plan to open debate Friday in the National Assembly on the treaty normalizing relations with Japan despite the mass resignation of deputies from the opposition Minjung party.

The Minjung party and other critics charge that Park's government made too many concessions to Japan.

De Soto discovered the Mississippi River in 1541.

'Band Camp' Will Be Held At Wellsville

Wellsville Band Camp will begin Monday at the "Ponderosa" behind Nicholson Stadium, it was announced at this week's meeting of the Band Parents.

A paper drive was conducted Wednesday and was being continued today. Band members are to collect, bundle and take the paper to Heaton's garage at 2026 Clark Ave. Proceeds will be used for a trip to Columbus where the band will play a concert Aug. 27 at 1:15 p. m. at the Ohio State Fair. The band will stay at the Southern hotel and will eat at the Brown Derby restaurant in Canton en route home. Chaperones will be teachers.

John Pangle, band director, has asked that any high school student who can play an instrument contact him.

Pictures for the football and basketball programs will be taken Aug. 25 at 1 p. m. at Nicholson stadium.

A "thank you" note for a wedding gift was received from Joseph Kaba, former band director, and his wife.

The next meeting will be Sept. 13 when a reception will be held for Mr. and Mrs. Pangle.

Two From Area Join Air Force

Residents of East Liverpool and the Hammondsville area have enlisted in the Air Force, Sgt. Ray Stanley, local recruiter, reported today.

Joseph R. Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Cooper of 930 North St., enlisted Aug. 4.

Cooper, a graduate of East Liverpool High School, is now taking Air Force indoctrination training at Lackland Air Force Base at San Antonio, Tex., upon completion of which he will enter electronics technical training.

Lawrence H. Sprouse Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence H. Sprouse of Hammondsville R.D. 1, also enlisted on Aug. 4.

Sprouse, a graduate of Stanton Local High School, also is receiving training at Lackland.

Upon completion, he will enter administrative technical training.

Says 'Fight Has Just Begun'

Dirksen Introduces New Version On Reapportion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, vowing "the fight has just begun," has introduced a new version of his defeated constitutional amendment on reapportionment of state legislatures.

Like the proposal which fell seven votes short of a two-thirds majority last week, the new amendment by the Illinois senator would reject the Supreme Court ruling that both houses of state legislatures be apportioned according to population only.

Under the proposal, one house could have seats allocated "on the basis of pupulation, geography and political subdivisions (such as counties) in order to insure effective representation in the state's legislature of the various groups and interests making up the electorate."

Changes over the earlier proposal include a provision requiring reapportionment of legislatures every 10 years on the basis of a census, and inclusion of the phrase "to insure effective representation."

Like the earlier plan, the revised amendment requires that no reapportionment proposal can become law until approved by a majority of the voters casting ballots in a statewide election. It also says the plan must first be approved by both legislative branches, including one apportioned according to population.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has announced U.S. recognition of Singapore as a sovereign and independent state. The island republic broke away from Malaysia earlier this week.

"We welcome the new state of Singapore to the community of nations and wish it success in carrying forward its program of economic and social development and its announced policy of cooperation with Malaysia," Robert J. McCloskey, press officer, said at a news conference Wednesday.

—:—

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey reported Wednesday after meeting with mayors of some 100 smaller cities that they are most concerned with roads, water, sewage and shortage of capital.

The meeting was the fourth in a series the vice president has been holding since President Johnson designated him as the administration's liaison with local government.

IMPORTANT REASONS
Why Ford Owners Should Have Regular Maintenance Service Performed At Our Dealership

- Work is performed by skilled technicians specially trained in the care of Ford cars.
- Our service department is equipped with special tools that are scientifically designed by the factory for the repair of Ford cars. This means better quality maintenance, done with greater efficiency at an economical cost.
- A complete stock of FoMoCo Genuine and Rotunda parts is available at our dealership. These parts are built to the same quality standards as the original equipment components of Ford vehicles. They are made right—to fit right—to last longer.
- The exclusive Rotunda Oil Filter saves the Ford owner both time and money. Oil and filter changes are required only twice-a-year, or at 6,000 mile intervals.

IMPORTANT REASONS
Why Ford Owners Should Have Regular Maintenance Service Performed At Our Dealership

- Work is performed by skilled technicians specially trained in the care of Ford cars.
- Our service department is equipped with special tools that are scientifically designed by the factory for the repair of Ford cars. This means better quality maintenance, done with greater efficiency at an economical cost.
- A complete stock of FoMoCo Genuine and Rotunda parts is available at our dealership. These parts are built to the same quality standards as the original equipment components of Ford vehicles. They are made right—to fit right—to last longer.
- The exclusive Rotunda Oil Filter saves the Ford owner both time and money. Oil and filter changes are required only twice-a-year, or at 6,000 mile intervals.

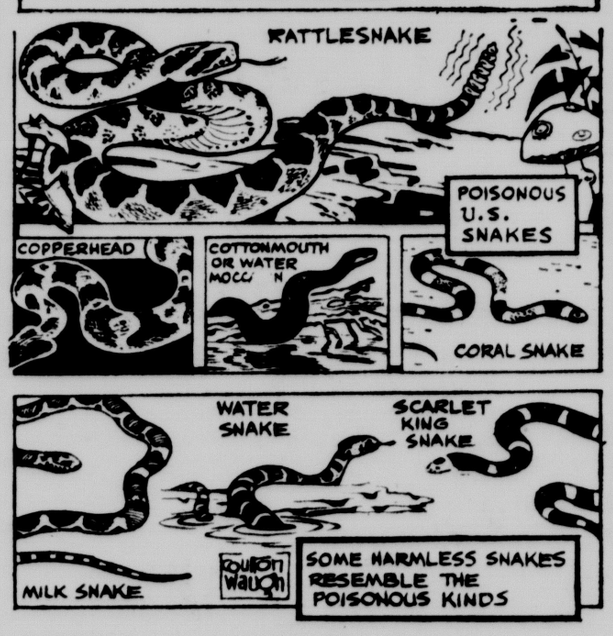
Junior Editors Quiz on SNAKES



QUESTION: How can you tell a poisonous snake when you see one?

ANSWER: There are many kinds of poisonous snakes in the world, and it would be impossible to give one rule to tell them from the harmless ones. In the U.S.A., however, there are only four main kinds of poisonous snakes. We show these in the upper part of the picture. Rattlesnakes, copperheads and water moccasins all belong to a group called pit vipers because of a pit between the eye and nostril. These are thick-bodied snakes with arrow-shaped heads, mostly with dark saddleshapes across the body. They have long fangs and are extremely dangerous. The rattlesnake vibrates his tail when angry. His rattles make a buzzing sound. The smaller copperhead is pinkish in color, and the mocassin is dark with a white mouth. The fourth poisonous snake, the coral, is different in shape, thin, with a small head. The fangs are small, but the poison is deadly. These snakes are found in the southern part of the U. S.

Below the poisonous snakes, we show three harmless snakes which might be confused with them. The milk snake has saddle markings something like the copperhead. The water snake has a thick body and arrow-shaped head like that of the pit vipers. The scarlet king snake is banded in red, black and yellow, as is the coral snake.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Study the differences in these snakes but don't get close to them or pick them up: you might be studying a poisonous one, thinking it harmless. There is only one safe rule—keep away from them all!

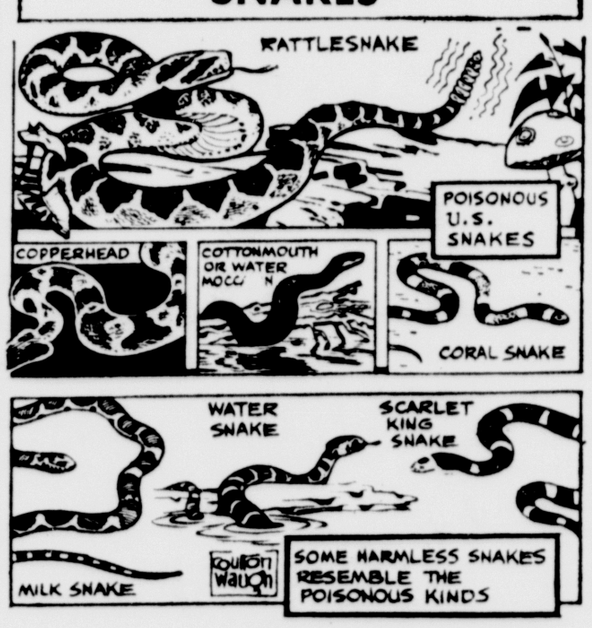
Junior Editors Quiz on SNAKES



QUESTION: How can you tell a poisonous snake when you see one?

ANSWER: There are many kinds of poisonous snakes in the world, and it would be impossible to give one rule to tell them from the harmless ones. In the U.S.A., however, there are only four main kinds of poisonous snakes. We show these in the upper part of the picture. Rattlesnakes, copperheads and water moccasins all belong to a group called pit vipers because of a pit between the eye and nostril. These are thick-bodied snakes with arrow-shaped heads, mostly with dark saddleshapes across the body. They have long fangs and are extremely dangerous. The rattlesnake vibrates his tail when angry. His rattles make a buzzing sound. The smaller copperhead is pinkish in color, and the mocassin is dark with a white mouth. The fourth poisonous snake, the coral, is different in shape, thin, with a small head. The fangs are small, but the poison is deadly. These snakes are found in the southern part of the U. S.

Below the poisonous snakes, we show three harmless snakes which might be confused with them. The milk snake has saddle markings something like the copperhead. The water snake has a thick body and arrow-shaped head like that of the pit vipers. The scarlet king snake is banded in red, black and yellow, as is the coral snake.

McNamara's Bids Spurned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress' long if not ardent honeymoon with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara appears finally over.

His old mastery was missing as Congress put its foot down twice Wednesday — going its own way on a military pay bill and turning a deaf ear to his strong arguments for a merger of the Army reserves.

The Reserve plan, a particularly pet project, was killed at least for this year by a House Armed Services subcommittee headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La.

Despite McNamara's arguments to the contrary, the subcommittee said the proposed merger would result in "an immediate and serious loss in combat readiness" and is "not in our national interest."

On the other side of Capitol Hill, the Senate was giving an 89-0 approval of a $1-billion military pay bill, much the same as already passed by the House, but more than twice as much as McNamra wanted. The House appeared likely to give quick approval to the Senate version.

A Defense Department statement, not quoting McNamara, said Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor and Gen. Harold K. Johnson, chief of staff, both believe the subcommittee's rejection of the merger plan "will compel the Army to retain nonessential units" rather than use the manpower to build up more important forces required by war contingency plans.

McNamara is said still to have hopes of reviving the plan, or one similar to it, next year.
